BUDGET DEBATE CONTINUES . . .

Mental Retardation Fund To Be Sought

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Two senators Wednesday signaled their intention to seek appropriations during the coming biennium to fund a new program of state aid to communities for mental retardation facilities.

A state aid program was proposed by Gov. Norbert Tiemann, but rejected by the Legislature's Budget Committee.

Instead, the committee has recommended that the state pump additional funds into the Beatrice State Home to improve its program for the mentally retarded.

Question Decision

Sens. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson and Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha questioned Budget Chairman Richard Marvel about the committee's decision during nearly four hours of budget deliberations Wednesday.

Lawmakers neared the halfway point in their section-by-section review of the committee's $723 million operational appropriations bill without making any changes in recommended dollar figures.

The only formal effort to alter figures by increasing the School for the Deaf's general fund appropriation by about $110,000 was rejected on a tight 20-23 vote.

Supplemental Bill

Wallwey and Pedersen will seek funding for community care facilities for the mentally retarded in a supplemental appropriations bill.

Wallwey said he will propose $2 million in aid under a 60% state, 40% local funding formula, as proposed in LB855, a measure which would assign the Office of Mental Retardation to the Department of Public Institutions.

Pedersen said he wants to study the provisions of that bill first before determining the appropriations level which he will support.

'Change Needed'

Care of the mentally retarded is in need of "a radical change," Pedersen said. "We should keep many of these young people in their home areas so they may be with their families at night."

The Budget Committee recommended a $2.6 million all-funds appropriations increase for the Beatrice institution to improve its program in lieu of the community funding.

Wallwey said he will support that recommendation as well as the community care proposal. "As the population at Beatrice decreased, the additional staff could do a much better job with those still there," he noted.

Tiemann asked about $2½ million in state matching assistance for community day care centers.

Hire More Aids

Marvel said the hefty budget increase for Beatrice would permit the institution to hire 100 additional ward aides during the biennium and improve its education and training programs.

As for supplemental community care, Marvel said he personally would prefer that it be provided through educational service units.

The only amendments adopted Wednesday were minor changes altering legislative controls rather than figures.

School Plans Withdrawn

Major proposals to hike the level of state aid to public schools were withdrawn for later consideration in a supplementary appropriations bill.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff won consent to lift the annual salary expenditure controls written into LB1421 for the tax commissioner's office.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly gained approval of an amendment which requires the Department of Roads to provide salary increases of "not less than" 5% each year for its maintenance personnel.

They are now salaried at a beginning wage of $1.85 an hour, Warner said

Up Salaries

Sen. George Syas proposed the budget hike for the School for the Deaf in Omaha in order to increase teacher salaries and permit the institution to accept more new students during the biennium.

The school will be able to take only eight of 20 new applicants under the $1.3 million budget proposed by the committee, Syas said.

The budget provides a teacher salary scale of $7,884 for the first year and $8,278 for the second year.

'SIT-OUT' BLOCKS BILL

It Would Punish College Rebels

. . . QUORUM UNATTAINABLE

© New York Times Service

Washington — Joined by a lone Republican, liberal Democrats again stalled House committee action Wednesday on a bill dealing with campus disorders by staging a "sit-out."

While supporters of the bill sat fuming for two hours, the opponents refused to show up to make the necessary quorum in the House Education and Labor Committee.

"I will not be a victim of campus-like disorders in this committee," thundered Rep. John Dent of Pennsylvania, one of five Democrats supporting the bill.

'Repressive, Punitive'

It was the second time in two days that the opponents had blocked committee action on what they termed "repressive, punitive legislation."

While the bill is supported by a majority of the 35-member committee, the absence of two Republican supporters has enabled opponents to prevent the quorum needed to take action.

The committee will meet again tomorrow, and if action is blocked again, will not try again until next week.

As their colleagues waited impatiently in the committee room, liberals relaxed in tiny sitting rooms nearby. Occasionally, they would peep through the doors into the committee room, then disappear.

The Republican in the "sit-out" was Rep. Ogden Reid of New York. He later joined four of the Democrats in a news conference to explain their position.

'Railroading' Charged

They accused their colleagues of attempting to "railroad" the bill through the full committee without hearing testimony from administration officials or university spokesmen.

"This is outrageous conduct for a responsible committee of Congress," Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., said.

Brademas and Reid have spearheaded the opposition to the bill, drafted last week by Reps. Edith Green, D-Ore., and John Erlenborn, R-Ill.

Two Said Opposed

Reid said the bill was opposed by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, and James Allen, commissioner of education.

The bill would require colleges and universities to draft codes of campus conduct before either the institutions or their students would be eligible for federal funds. The federal government, however, would not have the right to make colleges enforce their codes.

The bill would also expand an existing law that calls for withholding of federal aid to a student convicted of engaging in campus disorders if the college decided the student had contributed to substantial disruption.

WINCHESTER . . . unarmed marshal tried to stop gunman.

David Citian Wounds Six

. . . Then Shoots Self

Rising City (AP) — A former employe of the Farmers Co-op Grain Co. in this small village went on a shooting spree with a rifle Wednesday, wounding six persons — two seriously — before turning the gun on himself.

All the victims and the gunman survived.

The victims included the manager of the grain company, three other grain company employes and two farmers who were wounded as the gunman marched down the street after starting the shooting in the co-op office.

Rising City Marshal Verl Winchester said one of the initial victims managed to ring the fire telephone, and as the marshal answered the call he met Irvin M. "Shorty" Ostrander, 60, of nearby David City, coming out of the elevator office armed with a .22 caliber rifle.

Not Armed

Winchester, who does not carry a gun, said he was warned by Ostrander not to try to take the rifle until he had "'finished the job" he'd set out to do. The marshal also quoted Ostrander as saying he planned to shoot himself.

Ostrander then walked down the street and shot two more persons before turning the gun on himself. A bullet was found lodged in Ostrander's jawbone, Winchester said.

Ostrander, listed in good condition, and Mrs. Everett Hans, 23, bookkeeper at the grain company, were rushed to a Lincoln hospital. Mrs. Hans, wounded in the chest, was listed in critical condition.

Also Wounded

Also wounded were Val Foster, 39, manager of the co-op, hit in the arm; William Potter, Rising City farmer, hit in the neck; Doyle Fozzard, 44, Rising City farmer, injuries unknown; Keith Cook, manager-designate of the company, hit in both arms, and Kenneth Crook, 33, company employe, hit in the back.

Crook, Potter and Fozzard were hospitalized in Columbus and Cook was taken to Osceola. Foster was hospitalized in David City.

Cook had just begun work at the elevator in preparation for succeeding Foster as manager. Foster was to leave next week to become an agricultural consultant to a private firm in Ghana, Africa.

Not Fired

Ellery Sack, president of the grain company, said Ostrander had not been fired but quit his job voluntarily last Saturday. He said he did not know of any disputes or dissatisfaction which might have precipitated the shooting.

Winchester said he stood by helplessly as Ostrander fired first at the two farmers who tried to restrain him and then at Mrs. Hans who had fled the co-op office.

"I asked him to give me the gun," said Winchester, "but he said he wouldn't until he finished the job he had come to do. He said he didn't have any quarrel with me but he would shoot me if I tried to stop him."

Never Bothered

Winchester, a 58-year-old former Columbus factory worker who serves as law officer and general handyman for the community, said the town has never bothered to buy him a pistol.

"In the six years I've never had a gun and never before had any reason to use one," he said. "The town is so small I guess we just figured I'd never need one.

"Probably only once in a lifetime would we run into anything like this."

John L. Lewis, Ex-Head Of Mine Workers, Dies

Washington (UPI) — John L. Lewis, whose mighty voice and righteous wrath dominated the American labor movement for half a century, died Wednesday night in Doctors Hospital. He was 89.

Lewis had been hospitalized since Sunday with an "acute illness." Dr. Marcel Foret said the exact nature of the illness was not known, pending an autopsy.

To many Americans, Lewis was an almost legendary figure. To others he was a tyrant, an object of fear and hatred.

The longtime president of the United Mine Workers of America and first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations retired nine years ago as head of the Mine Workers. But for years afterward, he put in five full days a week in his non-paying job as head of the UMW pension fund.

Over 1,000 Pay Tribute To Three Sage Brothers

Niobrara — An estimated 1,200 persons gathered at the Niobrara High School gymnasium Wednesday afternoon for memorial services for Gary, Gregory and Kelly Sage, the three brothers lost June 3 in the South China Sea when their Navy destroyer USS Evans was cut in half in a collision with an Australian aircraft carrier.

High tribute was paid to the brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sage of rural Niobrara, in the hour-long services.

All but two downtown Niobrara business places, both of them cafes, were closed for the day.

Dignitaries

Dignitaries honoring the Sage brothers at the services included Chaplain Vernon W. Tuxbury and Rear Admiral Henry Renken of the Great Lakes Naval Base at Chicago; Gov. Norbert Tiemann; Niobrara Mayor Lester Fitch; the Rev. Charles Lindgren of the Niobrara Lutheran Church and the Rev. H. J. Timmer of the Presbyterian Church in Niobrara.

Also in attendance were Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, Nebraska Adjutant General Lyle Welch and James Smith, state veterans affairs director.

The Rev. Mr. Timmer, opening the services, said, "We hope this will teach us to number our own days . . . we pray that we learn there is but one step for us between life and death."

Gov. Tiemann said that since the beginning of this country "mothers have nurtured their sons to grow up and protect the frontiers of our freedom . . . in this tradition the Sage brothers served . . .

"The three Sage brothers did not take their freedom lightly," the governor said, and "the values that they as well as we cherish must be preserved."

He continued, "There can be no greater sacrifice than to give one's life in the service of his country . . . we pray that Gary, Greg and Kelly have found the peace they so richly deserve. . .

"The loving memory of these three brothers shall be with us forever."

The Rev. Mr. Lindgren, reading from scripture, asked, "If God is for us who is against us?"

He further asked, "What shall we say in facing this tragedy? We can but say, today God lives."

"Our God is a God of comfort and salvation," the Rev. Mr. Lindgren said. "To understand is to be comforted."

He closed by asking, "How much worse will our tragedies be if God is not given his rightful place in the hearts of men."

Medals Presented

Admiral Renken presented Mrs. Ernest Sage and Mrs. Gregory (Linda) Sage with American flags and with Vietnam service and national defense medals.

The two women sobbed frequently throughout the service and at the flag and medal presentation.

The admiral also presented the family with "the cruise books" detailing the travels of the USS Evans while the Sage brothers served on her.

Private Service

An 11 a.m. private service for members of the family was held at the Lutheran Church.

Immediately following the service, the family met briefly with newsmen outside the church and a spokesman said the Sages wished to express "heartfelt thanks" to all who have comforted them, including President and Mrs. Nixon.

The family also offered sympathy to the families of other servicemen lost in the Evans disaster.

Blame No One

Mrs. Ernest Sage and Mrs. Gregory Sage said they blamed no one for the loss of their loved ones. And the brothers' mother murmured that "this was the way the boys wanted it."

The day was unseasonably cold with intermittent rain during the morning. However, by the time of the services the sun had broken through the cloudy skies.

Flags at the State Capitol and governor's mansion in Lincoln flew at half-staff Wednesday to signal mourning for the Sage brothers.

Russia, China Trade Accusations

Hong Kong — The Communist Chinese accused the Soviet Union of "wantonly creating a new incident of bloodshed" by intruding into Sinkiang and killing a Chinese herder and concentrating troops and armor on the border. The Russians contended that Soviet troops fired in self-defense when Chinese troops fired at them after a herder had crossed the border. (More on Page 25.)

Italian Reds Obstinate

Budget Bureau Beats Pentagon

Washington — The seemingly abrupt cancellation of the Air Force's manned orbiting laboratory was the outcome of an intense struggle between the White House and the military. Abolition Of Counties Urged

The commission urged the formation of eight provinces coinciding with economic regions as a step to keep pace with the greater mobility and expanded suburban living of modern England.

Surtax Session Called

Washington — Following a lengthy, but apparently fruitless meeting between liberal Democrats and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, the obviously worried White House called a meeting with House leaders of both parties on the extension of the income tax surcharge. The meeting concerned the liberals' demand for a stronger commitment to tax reform before they would vote for an extension.

VC's Provisional Regime To Replace NLF In Paris

By DREW MIDDLETON

World News

Paris — The provisional revolutionary government of South Vietnam announced Wednesday it had taken over control of foreign and internal policy from the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, and would take the front's place at the Paris talks on Vietnam.

Tran Buu Kiem, former head of the front delegation and now minister to the presidency in the new government, made the announcement at a news conference.

Referring to the key issue of whether the provisional government would discuss a political settlement with the Saigon government of President Nguyen Van Thieu, Kiem declared that "private meetings with this handful of traitors" would not contribute to a solution of South Vietnam's problems.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, Kiem's deputy in the front delegation, has been named foreign minister in the provisional government and will lead its delegation when the four-sided talks resume Thursday. The U.S. delegation will be led by Lawrence Walsh in the absence of Henry Cabot Lodge, who is still in the United States after his trip to Midway Island with President Nixon.

Kiem emphasized that the provisional government would "demand," as the front did, that "the United States enter into serious conversations" with it "on the basis of the over-all 10-point solution" first presented to the conference by the NLF May 8.

A U.S. spokesman termed the move "a change in nomenclature and nothing else."

The South Vietnamese spokesman commented that "the formation of such a group of people naturally has added no more authority or given any additional significance to the NLF; it is just like the NLF, a tool of Hanoi, another screen put up to mask the Communist campaign to take over South Vietnam by force."

Provisional Regime Called Hanoi 'Propaganda Trick'

© New York Times Service

Saigon — President Nguyen Van Thieu Wednesday night denounced the Viet Cong's newly announced provisional government as a "propaganda trick of the Hanoi Communists." As such, he said, it was "not worthy of any attention."

Thieu dismissed the new "Republic of South Vietnam" out of hand. "One wonders," he said, "if a government that dared not reveal the place where it was formed is of any worth."

The South Vietnamese president said the announcement of the new organization had not changed his government's position at the Paris peace talks.

"Nothing is changed," he said. "The Paris talks will not be affected in any way. The talks will still retain their character as a bilateral negotiation, even though some people on the other side have changed their names."

Yellowstone Grizzly Mauls Girl, 5

Yellowstone National Park, Wyo. (UPI) — A 5-year-old girl attacked by a grizzly bear was in good condition Wednesday with two puncture wounds and chest lacerations.

Yellowstone National Park officials said Daphne Jax of St. Paul, Minn., was mauled by the bear Tuesday night when she left a restroom and apparently startled the animal.

Assistant Supt. Vernon E. Hennesy said the grizzly was shot a short time later by park rangers.

The incident at Fishing Bridge Trailer Park was under investigation, Hennesy said.

The girl was rushed from the camp to a hospital in the nearby community of Lake. Doctors said she was in good condition.

Reds Beaten Back In Fierce Fighting

Saigon (AP) — The enemy stormed three U.S. positions south of Da Nang Wednesday and tried to ambush an Army convoy in the central highlands, but were beaten back in fierce firefights and hand-to-hand combat that cost them 118 men killed.

U.S. infantrymen, armored personnel carriers and helicopter gunships spoiled the ambush attempt against a convoy of the 4th Infantry Division about nine miles north of Pleiku. They killed 42 enemy in an hour of sharp fighting while suffering only one man killed and one wounded.

76 Reds Killed

The other three attacks Wednesday killed 14 Americans but cost the North Vietnamese 76 of their own men killed. They preceded 23 shellings Wednesday night and early Thursday morning, 13 of them termed significant.

The heaviest attack occurred at 2 a.m. in the coastal foothills 20 miles south of Da Nang. Enemy sappers using a flame thrower and satchel charges, blasted their way into an American artillery base 11 miles northwest of Tam Ky.

The defenders engaged them in hand-to-hand fighting and finally drove them off with point-blank artillery and small-arms fire.

U.S. losses in that battle were 11 killed and 32 wounded, while the enemy lost 27 dead.

The second attack came when the enemy opened fire with mortars, small arms and rocket-propelled grenades on a night bivouac of the U.S. 11th Infantry Brigade 95 miles south of Da Nang. Fourteen North Vietnamese were killed in the night-long exchange, and U.S. losses were reported as one killed and eight wounded.

The third was battalion-sized assault of about 40 men against a U.S. Marine battalion headquarters 20 miles south of Da Nang and one mile northwest of An Hoa.

The three-hour battle cost the enemy 35 dead. Marine losses were put at two dead and 28 wounded.

Juliet," uttered a "plague o' both your houses."

He Bellowed Back

Using his sometimes biblical style of oratory, Lewis bellowed back:

"It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

One concession Lewis made to age was to give up his practice of driving to work daily. Until a few years ago he drove an aging Pontiac daily from the house in which he lived in suburban Alexandria, Va. The house — once the home of Robert E. Lee — reflected the love of history of Lewis's wife, who died in 1942.

Lewis took his UMW out of the CIO in 1942 in a policy dispute. The Mine Workers joined the AFL in 1946 but left the next year in a battle over compliance with the new Taft-Hartley law.

"Thou shall not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn," Lewis said in a Bible-quoting speech. The new law, he thundered, would muzzle labor as it "treadeth out the economic corn of our country."

At the time of the UMW pullout, Lewis pictured the AFL as attempting to advance across the plains of America led by "fat and stately asses."

But Lewis, who loved a good fight, was willing to meet old foes on friendlier ground. He and Harry S. Truman, once bitter adversaries until a few years ago, had lunch together when the former president was in town.

Born into a family of Welsh coal-miners Feb. 12, 1880, in Lucas, Iowa, Lewis quit school in the seventh grade to drive mules in the mines. But his ability and ambition quickly carried him out of the pits and under the wing of AFL President Samuel Gompers. He took over the presidency of the Mine Workers in 1919.

Hundreds Hear Gov. Ronald Reagan Pay High Tribute To Robert Taylor

Hollywood (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, fighting back tears, eulogized actor Robert Taylor Wednesday as "one of the true and most enduring stars in the golden age of Hollywood."

Reagan told a crowd of about 400 mourners at the Church of Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park that Taylor's fame and public acclaim were comparable to that of Rudolph Valentino of the silent screen.

Nebraska Native

Taylor, onetime romantic idol and a native of Filley, Neb., died Sunday of lung cancer.

"MGM was a giant in the home of giants. It was like Mount Olympus with a list of gods," Reagan said. "On all of Mount Olympus he (Taylor) was the most handsome." Taylor worked for 27 years at MGM.

The services drew crowds of curiosity seekers and many stars. Among the latter were Taylor's former wife, Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Stack, Walter Pigdeon, actress Virginia Gray, actress Rhonda Fleming and her husband producer Hall Bartlett, actor Van Heflin, Eva Marie Saint, Keenan Wynn and Sen. George Murphy, a former MGM star.

Reagan, a Hollywood actor when Taylor was at the height of his stardom, said his career "reads like a script from one of those early musicals. There was a college play, a talent scout and the day at MGM that was set for the screen test of an actor . . . Someone said, 'Who can we get to play the scene with her? How about that kid in the casting office?' "

That, said Reagan, was Taylor's first break, "and I guess if it was a play that would be the first curtain."

Longtime Friends

When Reagan left the television show "Death Valley Days" to run for governor, Taylor replaced him as narrator. But they had been friends much longer.

"Some day I'll see him on the late show resplendent in black tie and tails," Reagan said, his voice breaking, ". . . and I'll smile remembering a fellow named Bob who liked blue jeans better."

In an emotional conclusion, Reagan addressed Taylor's wife of 16 years, former actress Ursula Theiss: "You'll be proud, not so much of the fame . . . but of the simple things he had like honor and honesty . . . simple old-fashioned love for his country, and above all his inner humility, gentility and kindness."

He said Taylor spoke in his last days of his devotion to his wife. "He meant for me to tell you something. Ursula, there's only one last thing you can do for him. Be happy."

Taylor was cremated, with private interment in the Garden of Honor at Forest Lawn.

Taylor's mother, Mrs. Ruth Brugh, resides in a Santa Monica, Calif., nursing home.

County-City Offices Threatened By Fire

A fire at the old county courthouse, 10th and K, was fought for approximately an hour by Lincoln firemen to keep the blaze from reaching the new City-County building a short thirty feet away.

The fire, first noticed by workers in the police record bureau, was shooting from the windows and reaching for the new building by the time the fire officials arrived on the scene.

"The heat was extreme," said Assistant Chief Curtis Kadlick, "so we were afraid the windows of the new building might burst."

No damage was noticed on the new building.

The fire blistered the paint on the walls of the old building and smoldered in heaps of debris collected during the razing of the building that was started earlier in the year.

"The old building was worthless," Kadlick said, "so there was no damage . . . but there sure was a lot of fire."

Another fire two hours earlier at the old county jail, near the old courthouse, was quickly extinguished by Lincoln firefighters before it had a chance to spread into the building.

The fire was in a heap of cardboard boxes thrown down an outside stairwell of the building.

Fire officials said the two fires were probably started by a group of kids either accidentally or on purpose.

Both buildings are marked for razing to make way for a parking lot for city employes.

Stock Growers Tax Unit Voices Opposition To 'Dangerous' Corporate Farm Measure

Nebraska News

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Members of the longtime influential Nebraska Stock Growers Association began committee meetings here Wednesday in preparation for the opening session of the organization's 80th annual meeting that starts Thursday noon and runs through Saturday.

Strong opposition was voiced in the taxation committee meet against LB668, the corporate farm bill, with Stock Grower members terming the legislation that would limit ownership of land in Nebraska to only people engaged in agriculture as dangerous to the future of maintaining family ownership of ranches and farms.

"If LB668 applied to all corporations you would have people tearing the capitol down," said E. H. Shoemaker Jr. of North Platte, a member of the American National Cattlemen Association's national livestock tax committee.

Other members of the taxation committee referred to LB668 "as more dangerous than some federal proposals to limit the size of agricultural operations."

Shoemaker said federal legislation proposed to establish an excess deductions account and other legislation that would limit losses in the livestock industry "can harm the livestock industry and hurt the legitimate operator."

Confer With Patrol

Shoplifting, stocklifting or rustling, that is taking livestock through illegal means, still occupies the attention of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association.

Nebraska brand committee investigators and members of NSGA brand and theft committee met with a representative of the State Patrol to discuss methods of closer cooperation between the two organizations.

Discussion during the brand and theft committee meeting indicated that many livestock owners and law enforcement officers are unfamiliar with legislation that requires a written permit to be carried by a trucker that is signed by the owner or his authorized agent.

Nebraska brand inspectors say it is possible that more theft of cattle is now taking place out of the brand area and in eastern sections of Nebraska than in the ranch areas of Nebraska.

The NSGA convention will officially open Thursday afternoon with an address by NSGA President Bob Hanna of Valentine.

Bill House of Cedar Vale, Kan., president of the American National Cattlemen Association will address the afternoon session.

To Attend Meet

Dean W. Lancaster, manager of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association at the University of Nebraska, will attend the annual meeting of the American Seed Trade Association, June 12-14, in Denver, Colo.

Drive Shapes Up To Get Funds For Retardation

An attack is taking shape on three fronts in an effort to get state funds appropriated by the 1969 Legislature for the community services plan for the mentally retarded.

In a meeting of state and local retardation association officials Wednesday night, it was decided to launch a "three-pronged attack" in an attempt to convince state senators that there is a need to implement the community services program, reported Bill West, director of the Capital Association for Retarded Children.

The Legislature's Budget Committee Monday, to disappointment of retardation officials, recommended that no funds be appropriated for the statewide program recommended by Gov. Norbert Tiemann and numerous other state officials.

Result of Study

The comprehensive plan was a result of a two-year study by a portion of the Governor's Citizens Committee on Mental Retardation. The governor had included a $2.2 million appropriation in his budget proposal to be used as matching money for available federal funds.

The plan called for lowering the population of retarded persons at the Beatrice State Home and providing services for the retarded in communities throughout the state.

According to plans developed at the informal meeting Wednesday night, the Governor's Citizens Committee will continue to function as the professional liaison with the governor and state officials, West explained.

Active Involvement

Members in local and state associations, including both adults and youths, will be urged to become actively involved in expressing opinions and contacting legislators, Dr. W. L. Higgins of Lincoln, co-chairman of the Governor's Committee explained:

Higgins pointed out that these groups had been "held back as pressure groups up to now" as they had been under the impression that "senators preferred to deal with a unified organization."

Individual contacts at the grass roots level also will be promoted, it was reported.

According to Higgins, retardation associations had "put a lot of faith in the Governor's Committee organization to front for them. Now we will let the people speak for themselves," he said.

California Solons Pass Mandatory Death Measure

Sacramento, Calif. (UPI)— The state Senate voted 23-8 Wednesday to impose a mandatory death penalty on any person who knowingly kills a police officer.

The measure by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, was sent to the Assembly after a 30-minute debate which centered primarily on the deterrent effect of capital punishment.

At present, the same jury which finds a suspect guilty of first degree murder must decide whether he will be executed or sentenced to life in prison. The judge usually follows the jury's recommendation but may reduce the sentence to life if the panel votes for the death penalty.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Reportedly, support is waning in the Legislature for a bill which seeks to remove statutory tax ceilings from local governments. In the political arena, the measure is companion to one which proposes to extend direct state aid to local governments and one granting to local governments broadened tax powers.

Behind the ceiling removal bill is the thought that this would permit the local governments to face their own financial problems on a realistic level. Behind the aid approach is the thought that local governments have virtually exhausted the support of their constituency in the levying of additional taxes.

Thus, the aid approach says that the only answer for local government problems is expanded help financially from the state. This is already nearly assured in the area of streets and highways where expanded financing will greatly benefit the cities.

At last report, some cities, including Lincoln, were still complaining — complaining that the increased funds they will get for streets and highways was not enough. This despite the fact that local governments, including Lincoln, have done a stinking job of things on their own in the past.

Where and how governments and people have failed in the area of street construction, one finds a relevancy with the matter of overall state aid as opposed to ceiling removals.

By removing local ceilings, especially for such cities as Omaha and Lincoln where the citizens have voted the ceilings into existence, the Legislature seeks to do for people what they refuse to do on their own and what the local governments have been unable to do.

It is this that bothers us when we consider the question of expanding state aid to municipalities. It is a matter of certain merit and justification but it carries with it the seeds of subterfuge.

It is said that these are revolutionary times in which we live and to this we subscribe. Further, such times demand new attitudes and new approaches if we are to solve the dilemmas of our human advancement.

This means that both systems and people are going to have to represent a new level of understanding and flexibility. The problem with expanding state aid is that it represents a change in systems but not in people.

Fundamentally, we wonder if the cities of Nebraska can achieve the excellence to which they should aspire by circumventing rather than working with the people who live in them.

If the people of these cities will not provide the public financing considered by government to be essential for the overall well—being of everyone, is it proper to negate that decision through a higher governmental authority?

★

We are of the opinion that this is not just an abstract or theoretical question. Government without the confidence and backing of the people is weak and ineffective government.

Part of the problem in metropolitan areas today is that government has not been responsive to the people and, therefore, has lost public confidence.

Rather than restoring this confidence through able leadership and thereby gaining support for added public expenditures, these local governments are turning to the states, just as the states are turning to the federal government.

What is needed is the right public spirit at home but we further erode this possibility by ignoring local sentiment and invoking a higher government authority. It is a sad situation if this is our only alternative.

'International Airport'

The idea of an "international" airport in eastern Nebraska has been thrust into the news again. For at least ten years, there has been talk of a joint air terminal for Lincoln and Omaha to be located between the two cities which would benefit the surrounding region.

The idea was broached again last Friday by State Planning Director Douglas Bereuter at a meeting between Lincoln and Omaha mayors and city councilmen.

According to Bereuter, a 1970 national airport plan issued by the Federal Aviation Agency will recommend that a regional airport be built somewhere between Nebraska's two largest cities based on the assumption that Omaha's Eppley Field is "hopelessly obsolete" for the jumbo jet traffic that will come into its own in the next decade. The amount of passenger traffic that will generate from eastern Nebraska in the coming years would be another reason for the airport.

Seemingly running contrary to the concept is Omaha's commitment to a multimillion dollar expansion and renovation of Eppley and Lincoln's preliminary planning for a similar expansion of its municipal airport based on traffic projections for the next 25 years. Add to that Omaha's tendency to associate its air service growth with the interests of Des Moines and western Iowa.

It is comforting to note that — apparently in the spirit of intercity cooperation — Omaha City Councilman Al Veys along with Lincoln leaders sees the need for an international airport between Lincoln and Omaha "in our lifetime, in the next 25 years." We feel that a joint facility as proposed would be of invaluable benefit to the region without jeopardizing present or planned financial investment in either existing facility. The natural growth in commercial airline passenger service plus the untapped potential for air freight service in this area would justify it.

Musical Money Game

It is disturbing, to say the least, to hear the testimony of a Navy procurement specialist who says that defense officials deliberately conceal the true cost of weapons programs. Military leaders, he said, hide true cost figures from civilian heads and the latter, in turn, hide true costs from Congress.

All involved in this process, he testified before a House-Senate subcommittee on military spending, believe that if true costs were exposed the programs involved would never be given initial approval. But once the program is started, it is felt that it will then be continued, despite what are bound to be higher costs than estimated.

Members of the committee appeared shocked at the disclosure and well they might have been. It is because of such things as this that the American people turned in the last election to a new administration in Washington. The plain fact is that public confidence in the federal government had been shaken.

But public confidence remains today about what it was last year. The new administration has been in power only five months, so drastic changes in things should not yet be expected. But the American people will ultimately expect from the Nixon administration the same accounting they have demanded of other administrations in the past. Nixon has not only a war to solve, but a new public image to build.

Sino-Soviet War Possible

WASHINGTON — The possibility of war between the two great giants of communism — Soviet Russia and Red China — has been raised in a top secret U.S. intelligence report.

The report, purely speculative, but nevertheless reinforced with certain facts, suggests that Moscow may stage hit-and-run strikes at China's nuclear laboratories and armament centers in order to eliminate China as a nuclear threat.

This is what Gen. Curtis LeMay proposed when he was chief of staff of the Air Force. It would be paradoxical indeed if a communist nation now did what a leading U.S. military man once proposed and was turned down by his superiors. However, here are the facts on which the top-secret report bases its speculation:

1. The Russians have raised such a clamor about Chinese border harassment that counterattacks could be portrayed to the world as strictly defensive.

2. The Chinese have so alienated world opinion that they would receive little world sympathy. There would even be applause in the United States.

3. Red Army leaders have argued that Russia should never split its strength between the European border on the west and the Chinese border on the east. Today the Chinese have made this necessary.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Red Army has now assembled a formidable array of strength along the Chinese border, hitherto not much better fortified than that between Canada and the United States.

This writer has traveled along the border between Siberia and China in the Ussuri and Sungari River regions where recent skirmishing has been taking place. It is a vast, relatively unpopulated area somewhat like the Dakotas and you can travel for miles without seeing a house or a single living thing.

Why two countries should risk war over such a desolate region is hard to understand. Nevertheless, there have been repeated clashes along the 4,500-mile border, though most of them have been propaganda broadsides by loudspeaker, and organized demonstrations of contempt.

On other occasions, the Chinese presented a more grizzly spectacle on the river ice for the benefit of the watching Russians. Prisoners would be herded out onto the river and would be accused over the loudspeakers of being Soviet sympathizers. They were then beheaded on the spot in full view of Soviet troops.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Chinese have an estimated 550,000 troops along the border and can be expected to muster more. This includes a couple of crack divisions. The Russians have only around 400,000 men manning the border, but they are reported to be superior units.

The Soviets, of course, have superior firepower and, perhaps even more important, far better communications and transportation links. The Chinese would have great difficulty supporting their troops in any major engagement over the disputed island in the Ussuri River.

There is absolutely no neutral, objective account of the incidents that stirred up the recent Chinese-Russian flap.

It was the Russians, however, who trumpeted the affair into an international incident. They gave it a full propaganda blast around the world, unlike their discreet handling of earlier incidents. Most unprecedented of all, however, the Kremlin went to great diplomatic pains to give its version of the trouble to other governments. Soviet ambassadors approached most of the western governments from Washington to Bonn to Tokyo with detailed explanations of the incidents.

☆ ☆ ☆

Ambassador Dobrynin even hinted strongly to the State Department that Soviet-American negotiations to ease tensions around the world would be impaired if the U.S. sought a reconciliation with China.

The analysis generally accepted by our government is that the Kremlin became alarmed over what might have appeared to be a deliberate western campaign to improve relations with China. Probably this appeared to the Soviets as an attempt to exploit Chinese-Russian hostility and to form a common front against the Soviet Union.

Patchwork Prairie Country

Despite the problems of getting the seed in the ground this spring we are being rewarded now with the extra lushness and brilliant green of the countryside. The meadowlands and wheat fields are spilling their emerald colors over the edges like a great bubbling caldron brewing a heaping "mess of greens."

I say a mess of greens with some reservations although when we lived in the southland a mess of greens was standard conversation. To a girl from the north a mess of greens meant just that . . . a mess. With turnip greens, a few slices of turnips and strips of salt pork floating around in the grease on top I never came to adopt the true meaning of a mess as the southern people.

I learned you could make a mess of greens from mustard, poke, southern pea tops and other woodsy plants if you by chance ventured into the Ozarks in the spring.

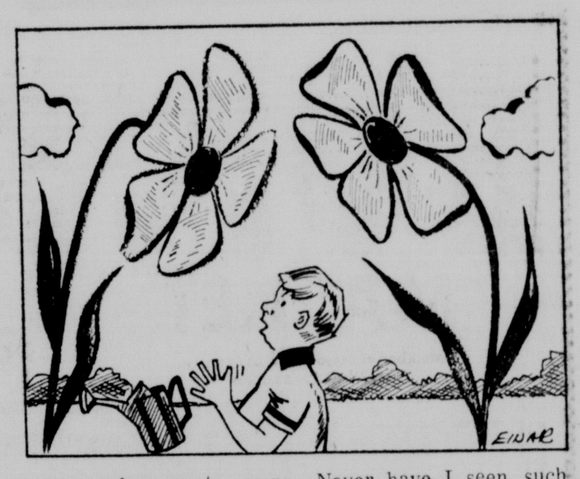
I never was a converted sassafras tea drinker either.



The sassafras roots were never called a mess of roots but if I ever saw a mess that should truly be called a mess it was those roots, clinging with dirt, tangled with wild vines as they were dug and looking very unappetizing. I never dug those roots, nor went near that habitat after I heard poison ivy grew in the area.

It would have been just my luck to get a mess of poison ivy. With the extreme humid temperatures I didn't need to itch and scratch with poison ivy rash. Life was only tolerable as it was.

The pair of wrens that have taken up housekeeping in our tree have proved to be very delightful as well as amusing neighbors.

This morning I washed The Farmer's overalls and a cap. Not long ago I went to get the clothes from the line but stopped short some distance away when I saw one of the wrens hopping in and out of the overalls. After investigating for a few minutes the happy bird flew to the cap. The cap wiggled furiously in the otherwise quiet atmosphere of the day. Nary a breath was stirring Never have I seen such a mite of a bird so mightly. Small but mighty certainly pertains to a wren, I have concluded.

☆ ☆ ☆

The roses are blooming as if they must show their full glory in one day. The Peace rose like always is beautiful. The iris have been so full and colorful, no doubt due to the cool cloudy weather with plenty of midwinter snow.

But shasta daisies . . . anyone who can grow zinnias could surely grow daisies I have set out daisy plants the last three springs and have nary a bud nor blossom to show for my effort.

The plants actually seem to have become smaller in size since I planted them. This morning I mixed a commercial plant booster in water and sprinkled them lavishly. According to directions with the material a noted burst of growth should be evident within a few days.

Perhaps they will shoot skyward like Jack's beans in the Beanstalk story. At least the advertisement of the plant stimulant would have me believe this may happen.

Greeting Card Race: Dad Still Far Behind

NEW YORK — PEOPLE . . . PLACES . . .

Joyce Hall, who prints a zillion greeting cards a year (and turns down, with thanks, such suggestions as "Sympathy on the Death of Your Canary"), isn't worried about the Vatican's recent downgrading of such treasured saints (and card-sellers) as Nicholas and Valentine.

"Santa Claus and Valentine will remain our number one and two sellers," he told me the other day at his impressive headquarters in Kansas City. "They'll stay number one and two because they move a lot of people, spiritually and emotionally. The only cards gaining on them in numbers bought and sent are Easter and Mother's Day."

I asked him about Father's Day cards.

"Doing a bit better," he said, "but . . ." Then he shrugged.

Looks like we're still running out of the money, men.

Western Union has slicked up its telegrams, you've probably noted. "Designed for easier reading . . .," says a blurb the company is enclosing in each envelope.

It could have added, ". . . and also more bewildering than the old form." Received two WU's recently. The invitation to the post-Belmont Stakes party was from "Betty and Fran." We deduced in time that "Fran" must mean, "Frank," as in Frank McMahon. The second wire concerned a dinner given the night before by the 52 Association, a fine organization dedicated to working 52 weeks a year in behalf of badly wounded war vets. It was signed "Darrly."

Turned out to be from Darryl Zanuck.

Thanks, Darrly old boy, and now let's see what we can do about bringing back Postal.

Britain The Most Striking Example: A Nation That Sacrificed Power While Gaining Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO — What this century needs is a substitute for war. The kind of holocaust to which man lent himself until 1945 is appallingly brutal and evil and has now also become totally impractical if humanity is to survive. Therefore, although the habit of limited fighting may unhappily continue, man's instinct, if not his intellect, seems to refuse immolation as a political solution.

This fact has curious economic implications. War's shock treatment is in the long run often more beneficial to the losers than the winners. The most blazing example is that of heroic Britain. Britain held freedom's fort alone in 1940, staged the most glamorous victory parade afterwards, and has been sliding downhill ever since.

Of the first 10 contemporary powers only the United States, Canada, Britain and India escaped massive destruction plus occupation of all or much of their territory. All the others were either totally or partially defeated and overrun — Russia, West Germany, France, Japan, China, Italy. And No. 11 and 12 on the list rating gross national production are once-eviscerated Poland and East Germany.

Britain, the most striking example of how to lose by winning, a nation which sacrificed power while gaining spendid triumph, received none of the advantages of defeat attained by its commercial rivals Germany and Japan. Not only did it lose an empire it could no longer afford; it lost world markets and, because its plant was essentially undestroyed, it entered the postwar trade rivalry heavily in debt and with obsolescent machines — the price of victory.

Not so Germany, France, Japan and Italy. All were more or less in the condition of Humpty Dumpty when the fighting stopped. They were painstakingly put together, primarily by American generosity, so that within a decade their industrial output was beginning to expand efficiently.

Russia and China were special exceptions. With immense courage the Soviet Union had transported machinery to Siberia during the German advance; it ended the war with a spate of new mushroom towns in the east and the framework of ravaged industrial towns in the west. These were energized with huge seizures of German and Japanese (from Manchuria) reparations in the form of equipment. China's appreciably smaller industrialization was helped by enormous Soviet aid.

Perhaps only England, the saddest and least generously recompensed victor in history, got nothing but glory.

Of course it received economic and financial help from America plus sizable reparations. Yet it entered the century's third quarter with substantially the same — and consequently outmoded industrial plant as that with which it entered the second quarter.

One can go on specifying exceptions and drawing subconclusions. France, for example, was both temporary loser and ultimate winner, only partially occupied and relatively less destroyed. But France also has Europe's richest and most balanced base and astounding powers of recuperation, in evidence since the 15th century.

☆ ☆ ☆

The point that bears emphasis is the twin case of Germany and Japan, major losers of World War II. Both had been impressive manufacturing countries and each was almost totally destroyed. Yet each was so formidably assisted by the victorious U.S. that today West Germany alone, with its modern factories and machines, is No. 3 industrial power in the world — after America and Russia.

Were it reunited with East Germany — now No. 12 in the G.N.P. rating — it would be half way back to superpower. And Japan is No. 5 — comfortably ahead of Britain.

The moral, in prenuclear terms, is: if you can't stay out of war, the best thing to do is lose. Moreover, now that unlimited conflict — touch wood — seems a thing of the past, a substitute for its shock treatment must be found.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Widow, 46, Loves Both Suitors

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "I'm a widow, 46, with a good job as secretary to a leading attorney. My problem is trying to decide between two men who want to marry me. Funny, but I really love them both. One is a 61-year-old widower who has a successful electrical business. He's crazy about me and showers me with presents. His only drawback is that he talks all the time and bores me a little. The other man is my age, divorced and very handsome. He's a salesman, has changed jobs quite often and hasn't accumulated much capital. If I married him we'd probably have to live in my house and I'd have to keep working. But he's really a charmer. What do you think?"

A. — Why marry either of them? Sounds to me as if you'll be bored to death by the one, or wind up supporting the other. You're pretty well off the way you are, with a good job, a home of your own, and male companionship when you want it. No use to throw your independence away just to get a ring on your finger.

Q. — "There's a historical society in our town and all the dead-heads belong. Just because I'm 75 and retired they keep pestering me to join forces with them in assembling data about old buildings, making pilgrimages to old cemeteries, and listening to old fogies resurrect the past. In my opinion the past was pretty lousy — wars, hunger, injustice, disease, etc. I'm just interested in the present and future. Don't you think I've got a point?"

A. — Some will agree with you. But I think most older people harbor considerable affection and sentiment for the past. They feel a nostalgia about life as it was lived when they were young, and find enormous pleasure examining the habits and practices of bygone generations. True, the past had much that was grim. But we should be able to learn from history and avoid making the same errors in the future. I think you've got a blind spot here which could be cured if you'd open your mind to the satisfactions of historical research reminiscences.

Q. — "You write about retired folks who have stupid little hobbies like collecting stamps or weaving rugs. Things like that would put me to sleep. So would travel. I've done enough traveling in my years as a construction engineer and want to stay put. If you're so smart, give me one specific suggestion for something constructive to do here in my community that might turn out to be profitable. No going back to a job or raising funds for some charity either, please."

A. — Okay, how about buying an old rundown house and remodeling it? This would seem to tie in with your past experience, would keep you busy at a variety of tasks, would permit you to stay in the hometown and work at your own convenience. And you might make a few bucks.

Open Space Plan Goes To McCook

A preliminary plan for development of park and recreation land and community beautification has been presented to the McCook Planning Commission.

Presenting the plan, known as the McCook open space plan, was planning director Charles L. Leider of Lincoln.

Included in the draft were proposals for new neighborhood park sites, the development of natural areas for municipal and regional or transient use and the establishment of a wilderness preserve in the Republican River flood plain just south of the city.

Action On K St. Station Is Postponed

The City Power Advisory Board Wednesday postponed action on a proposal that the city purchase the K Street Station from the Nebraska Public Power System. (NPPS).

A negotiating committee for the city has come to an agreement with the NPPS, calling for purchase of the plant for $650,467 plus interest, with acquisition and payments to begin in 1972.

Nicolas Bashara suggested that action be postponed because only five of the nine board members were present.

Some Questions

Donald Haessler said he has some questions regarding the purchase and wants more time to study the proposal.

The board agreed to hold a special meeting later in the month.

Dale Renner, special assistant to the mayor on the Lincoln Electric System, told board members that the city needs the plant in order to provide steam heat to the downtown business district after 1972.

Renner said NPPS does not plan to sell steam heat to the city anymore after that date.

Would Need OK

The City Council and the mayor would still have to approve the sale agreement after the board takes action on the matter.

The other alternative for the city to obtain steam heat would be to build a new plant costing slightly more than $2 million, according to Renner.

He pointed out that NPPS is only willing to sell the plant to the Lincoln Electric System if the city will make 18,000 kilowatts of electricity available to NPPS during an eight-year period ending in 1980.

Til 1980

"NPPS needs the availability of the energy until 1980 when it will use the Cooper Station for its electricity," Renner said.

He said the city should provide the electricity to NPPS for the cost of the fuel plus 10%.

Renner said the city constantly has sold its steam supply to commercial and industrial firms.

"We could increase the availability of steam heat from the present 180,000 (pounds per hour) to 240,000 and get some additional business," he said.

BAG FULL OF GRASS BREAKS WINDSHIELD

Jim Sears of 1227 So. 25th, framed by broken windshield, displays bag of grass which shattered the windshild of his auto as he was driving on Interstate 80 at the Adams St. overpass. Sears said someone dropped the bag as he was passing under the overpass and the bang went through the glass. Sears and a passenger both suffered multiple minor cuts. He said he was able, "I don't know how," to maintain control of the car.

Library Board Names Architect To Design New Branch Facilities

The Lincoln City Library Board Wednesday voted to hire the Lincoln firm of Clark & Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs & Thomsen to design branch libraries for the northeast and southeast sections of the city.

In May, Lincoln voters approved a bond issue to finance construction of the two branches.

Board members agreed that they could not establish an architectural fee until after sites for the libraries have been selected.

Committee OK'd

The board agreed to a suggestion by Board Chairman Jack Hart that an ad hoc advisory committee of persons from the northeast area be established.

Hart said the committee would work with the library board on selection of a site and on other areas of concern in relation to the library.

"It is quite important," Hart said, "that we have continuing contact with the people in the northeast" concerning the library.

The board instructed Hart to select committee members and determine the committee's functions.

In New Quarters

Library Director Charles Dalrymple told the board that the Belmont facility is now operating in new quarters in the Belmont Community Center.

He said the library is open six days a week.

In other action, the board approved a contract with the Nebraska Public Library Commission, which will provide special books and recordings for use by the visually impaired and physically handicapped.

The materials are to be made available at the Bethany and South Branch libraries and the Bennett Martin Library.

Federal Funds

Funds for the materials are to come from a federal grant to the state. Plans are contingent on federal funding.

The board also discussed library service for the southwest section of the city, but decided to take no action until fall.

Board members welcomed newly appointed member Dick Lyman, who sat on the board for the first time at the meeting.

3 Chicago Policemen Acquitted

Chicago (UPI) — A federal court jury found three Chicago policemen innocent Wednesday in the beating of a newsman during the Democratic National Convention week disorders.

The jury of six men and six women acquitted Sgt. George Jurich, 36, and Patrolmen Vincent D'Amico, 23, and Edward M. Becht, 28, of the charge that they deprived Chicago Daily News reporter John Linstead, 27, of his civil rights by beating him.

The trial was the first resulting from a federal grand jury's indictment of 17 persons — eight policemen, eight antiwar demonstration leaders and a broadcasting company employe — for incidents growing out of the tumultuous convention week demonstrations and rioting.

After reading the verdicts, U.S. District Judge Joseph Sam Perry told the jury he was "in harmony" with its decision.

"I am convinced that there was excessive force," the judge said, "but it is a matter that should have been tried in the state courts for assault and battery."

Perry said language used by Linstead in attempting to stop the policemen from beating three youths seated in a sports car during a confrontation between demonstrators and police was "vile, degrading and gutteral."

Any red-blooded American would flare up," the judge said.

Owens To Head PTA Advisory Unit

Dr. Foster Owens, a professor at the University of Nebraska, Wednesday was elected chairman of the PTA Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools.

Owens succeeds Marvin Stewart as chairman.

Mrs. Robert Burt was elected vice chairman.

The Citizens Advisory Committee members are appointed by the Lincoln Area Council PTA to represent junior high school areas in the city.

Appointed to serve on the group for the 1969-70 school year and the area represented are: Owens, Culler Junior High; Stewart, Pound; Mrs. Burt, Everett; Mrs. Norman Lawson, East; Mrs. Albert Kennedy, Robin Mickle; Dr. Harvey Gunderson, Goodrich; Mrs. Ernest Cruder, Whittier; Dr. Milton Evans, Dawes; John Thompson, Millard Lefler; and Mrs. Loren Belker, Irving.

In discussion Wednesday the committee, which had been active in planning and promoting the summer school program for the Lincoln Public Schools, pointed out several problems connected with it that members said should be considered in future planning.

Among the problems noted were the following:

—The bus picking up students at junior and senior high schools providing transportation to East where all secondary academic classes are held does not get students to East in time for the first period.

—Disorganization of registration at East High when students were required to pick up class schedules.

—Lack of a time schedule for elementary class offerings so that parents could register children for specific classes at certain times.

Parents Of Sixth Graders At Rousseau Oppose Busing

A poll of parents who will have sixth grade children at Maude Rousseau School next year showed they were overwhelmingly against having their children bused to Pound Junior High in the fall.

Parents were asked whether, on the basis that it would be better to bus sixth graders than kindergartners, they would be willing to have their sixth graders transported to Pound Junior High.

To date, 40 parents have responded no. Thirteen have said yes, and six have indicated no preference, according to Supt. John Prasch.

While an addition is being constructed at Maude Rousseau School, the board of education decided to bus kindergartners to Bryan School to relieve overcrowding unless parents of sixth graders indicated that they would not mind having their children transported instead.

Prasch said that no conclusions are being drawn yet about the results of the poll as far as confirming the board's decision to transport kindergartners or recommending a change.

He added, however, that it appears the district will have "as large a group of unhappy parents one way as the other."

Carbon Monoxide Blamed In Death Of Fullerton Tot

Fullerton (AP) — Services were held at the Methodist Church in Fullerton Wednesday for a three-year-old boy Sheriff Dick Shepoka said apparently was a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The child was John Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hartman of Fullerton. A Central City physician said he had not determined the cause of death and an autopsy report was awaited.

The sheriff said the family drove from Grand Island to Fullerton Sunday and when they arrived home the parents were nauseated and they could not awaken their son.

The Hartmans took the boy to a hospital, where he died.

Sheriff Shepoka said the Hartman auto had passed the state safety inspection.

Negroes Denied Display Of Flag

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Board of Education ruled Tuesday that militant Negro students may not fly a black nationalist flag at Detroit Northern High School.

The board voted 4 to 2 not to allow the black, red and green flag below the U.S. flag on the school's flag staff.

4,245 Elementary And Secondary Students Enroll In Summer School

Summer school opened for elementary and secondary students in Lincoln this week with a total of 4,245 enrolled in academic, music and driver education courses.

Dr. Norbert Schuerman, principal of the secondary school at East High, reported 1,050 students enrolled in academic classes.

Some 1,967 elementary students enrolled in summer classes, according to Principal Lyle Bargman.

Students taking vocal and instrumental music at each of the high schools numbered 814, music coordinator Gene Stoll reported.

Drivers education drew 140 at East, 65 at Lincoln High, 78 at Southeast and 131 at Northeast, it was reported.

Students from low-income families who have in past summers attended a separate summer school emphasizing remedial reading with the opportunity to attend a week-long camp in August were integrated into the regular summer school program this year. Federal funds are used to pay tuition for the students.

Of the total elementary students, 562 are attending with Title I funds from the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Seventy-five secondary students have their tuition paid with Title I funds.

Seventy-five junior high students have enrolled in a special outdoor education program which involves a two-week camp financed with Title I funds near the end of the summer.

Student Voice At University Flunks Math

Orono, Maine (AP) — Steph T. Hughes, 25, of Auburn, Maine, the first student trustee in the nation will not graduate this month.

A spokesman for the University of Maine said Wednesday that Hughes, a political science major, had failed to pass a math course.

Hughes said he believes he failed the course because of his poor attendance record.

"I guess I was just doing too much work for the student senate, and missed too many math classes."

Hughes was named to the trustees' board last month.

Girls Back Strict Marijuana Measure

A bill calling for suspension from an institution of higher education upon conviction of possession of cannabis (marijuana) was approved by the all-girl legislature chosen by the Cornhusker Girls' State participants.

The girls, meeting for a mock Unicameral session Wednesday, amended the wording of a bill introduced in the Nebraska Legislature to provide for suspension for 13 months.

The bill was one of only two bills acted on during the Girls' State meeting of the mock legislature. Senators elected earlier in the week by the girls met for less than two hours to consider some 14 bills introduced.

The girls also passed a bill calling for compulsory high school education although they amended it to require that students fulfill all high school requirements unless school authorities feel a student to be incapable of doing so.

Other bills introduced into the brief session related to required drivers' training, school redistricting, an enclosed stadium between Lincoln and Omaha, prohibition of annexation of small towns and suburbs by large cities.

Other events Wednesday included mock meetings of two county boards in which the girls read scripts prepared by Girls' State leaders containing proposals, discussion and action.

District Court and the Supreme Court judges, to which girls had earlier been appointed, also conducted mock trial sessions with the aid of scripts.

Girls may inject their own proposals and comments but the scripts are available for them as a guide, explained Girls' State president Mrs. John Horstman.

Boys Favor Lower Voting Age

Cornhusker Boys' State legislators Wednesday passed five out of six bills, two of which would provide constitutional amendments lowering voting and majority privileges to 19-year-olds.

The only measure which failed to get a nod was one which would make doves a legal gamebird.

Other bills which passed would legalize "qualified" abortions, and establish a federally financed mandatory police training program for the state.

In a more humorous vein, the body unanimously approved a resolution calling for a one-hour extension of the Thursday night dance to be held in cooperation with the participants in Girls' State.

The Girls' State mock legislature passed a similar measure Wednesday.

The Boys' Staters had earlier killed a controversial self-defense act and a measure which would expel any state college student convicted of marijuana use.

The session also saw the passage of a bill impounding cars of minors transporting liquor.

Reciprocal Tax Pact With Iowa To Begin July 1

State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil announced Wednesday that Nebraska will enter into a reciprocal sales-use tax collection agreement with its neighboring state of Iowa on July 1.

McNeil said that such agreements when reached with all six of the states bordering Nebraska would increase Nebraska tax revenues by about $1 million annually.

Reciprocal agreements already exist with Kansas and Missouri, and McNeil said negotiators are in contact with Wyoming, Colorado and South Dakota.

Without the reciprocal agreements, retail sales to out-of-state customers or retail merchandise transported across state lines escape the sales tax, McNeil said.

Under the agreements, the states exchange audit information which "reveals the names of any purchasers who attempt to evade payment of such use tax," he said.

Once Nebraska and its six neighbors accept the agreements "any sales which are presently escaping taxation will hereafter be properly and legally taxed," he said.

Schrader And Naughtin Resign

Nebraska Economic Development Director James W. Monroe of Lincoln announced Wednesday the resignation of Dr. George Schrader as director of the Department's Industrial Research and Information Services Division(IRIS).

Director of the IRIS division since its inception in 1967, Schrader will become director of industrial engineering at Florida Technological Institute.

The resignation of John Naughtin, industrial consultant in the department's industrial development division also was announced.

Replacements for the men have not yet been named.

House To Probe Interest Rate Hike

Washington (AP) — The House Banking Committee will investigate the increase in the bank prime lending rate to a historic high to determine whether remedial legislation is needed.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said Wednesday he has set hearings to begin June 19, with Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy as the first witness.

LAP Is Granted $81,000

The Lincoln Action Program has been granted a total of $81,710 in federal funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity for central administration and planning for the 1970 fiscal year, LAP director Art May reported Wednesday.

The grant, reported to LAP by Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska, will be matched with $29,651 in local "in kind" contributions. Of the total federal funds, $54,740 will be used for central administration and $26,970 for planning.

The funds will support the central office staff of Lincoln's anti-poverty agency and planning and resource mobilization staffing.

Applications to fund LAP's delegate agencies, such as Head Start and others, have not yet been submitted for the next LAP program year beginning Oct. 1.

A special board meeting has been scheduled for June 23 to discuss applications for the delegate agencies.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association.

Picnics are popular here in Nebraska. Do not let food poisoning spoil your holiday outing.

Food spoils quickly in hot, summer weather. If the bacteria that cause food poisoning are present, they will grow rapidly in unrefrigerated food.

To be safe, leave sandwich ingredients in the original wrappers and containers, and make up your sandwiches at the picnic. Take meat in a can and open it just before serving.

Potato salad is sometimes a trouble-maker. Keep it in the picnic icebox to keep it cold. That icebox, by the way, is an excellent food saver. Be sure it has plenty of ice.

These few precautions will help ensure that your family outing is free of the illness caued by food poisoning.

Housing Authority Gets New Proposal

A General Services Administration (GSA) official in Washington disclosed Wednesday that a new proposal regarding payment of the mortgage on the old Lincoln Air Force Base housing area has been submitted to the Lincoln Housing Authority.

James Buchan, GSA public information specialist, said that the proposal — being requested by the mortgage holder, the New Jersey Teachers Pension Fund — has been holding up the transfer of the property to the Housing Authority.

Buchan said the last-minute proposal must be acted on by the housing authority before the sale can be completed.

The sale had earlier been cleared by the Government Operations Committees of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, the GSA, and at one time by the mortgage holder.

The Housing Authority offered $5.5 million for the property with a $1 million down payment on or after July 1 and the balance to be paid over a 20-year period. The authority also requested that it immediately receive clear title to 200 units.

Housing Authority Chairman Kenneth King confirmed that the authority will be discussing the new document but gave no indication what action would be taken.

The Housing Authority has scheduled a meeting for Thursday.

CHARLES STENVIG

Detective Mayor Of Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Minn. (AP) — Charles Stenvig, a police detective who ran on a strong law and order platform, won a landslide victory over City Councilman Dan Cohen to become the new mayor of Minneapolis.

Stenvig hammered away at the single theme that law and order means "strong, fair, impartial law enforcement toward everyone."

Cohen drummed on the theme that "a lot of people" were afraid of a Stenvig victory and Cohen once called Stenvig "goofy" and "irrational" for his preoccupation with guns and law enforcement.

Youths Sought In Statue Hiest

Lincoln police said they were searching for a group of youths suspected of removing a statue of a man from the porch of a home belonging to Jack L. Saltzman, 26, 1845 D, sometime Tuesday night.

The statue, police said, weighed over 200 pounds and was valued at $300.

Stockholm (UPI) — A relay of anti-war demonstrators will read aloud the names of 31,379 American soldiers who have died in Vietnam in a rally July 4 in front of the U.S. Embassy, the Swedish Vietnam Committee announced.

Two City Banks Hike Prime Rate

Lincoln's two largest banks — the National Bank of Commerce and the First National Bank — have increased their prime interest rates to 8½% in trend with the increased rate this week in New York banks.

Two savings and loan company officials said that their companies had not yet made decisions to increase their rates.

One said its prime interest rate, the rate charged on loans to large companies, varies and is at about 8%

The other company said its board had not yet held a meeting to discuss an increase, but an official noted that the firm is not necessarily influenced by New York markets.

He said the company would not make any hasty decision since it cannot be sure that the rate increase is a permanent one.

The bank officials said they plan no increase in consumer loan rates, such as rates on installment and home loans. They "may have to be raised," however, one official noted, because they haven't been raised recently.

Talks On Contracts Slated

Laborers union representatives and contractors will continue to negotiate at a Thursday morning meeting in efforts to form a mutually acceptable three-year wage and conditions contract.

John Miller, president of the Building and Construction Employers Association (BCEA), said that a Tuesday meeting had been postponed until Thursday so that negotiators would have an opportunity to discuss all aspects of proposed new contracts before a decision was made.

Laborers and teamsters unions are the only remaining craft unions which have not signed new contracts since old ones expired April 1.

Although the teamsters have not officially met with the BCEA, in past disputes their contracts have usually granted increases amounting to 10% more than laborers' wages.

Some observers noted that a breakdown in Thursday's negotiations could possibly result in further picketing at Lincoln construction sites, which were freed of pickets last week when operating engineers agreed to a new contract.

Others commented that the BCEA is in a somewhat precarious situation in that it wants to reach agreements with laborers, but fears that other unions may feel they were "sold-out short" if laborers' benefits are more than those of unions who have already come to terms.

Meanwhile, Richard Snook, president of the Lincoln Building and Construction Trades Council, said that laborers were continuing to work and that the Lincoln construction picture is returning to normal.

Miller said, however, that much remains to be done by contractors in "reorganizing" work schedules, and that some workers are still in the process of moving back to Lincoln following the two-month work stoppage.

Payday Change To Cost County Another $1,700

The cost for implementing the more frequent paydays for county employes will amount to about $1,700 more a year, according to County Clerk Carl Hartman.

He said that data processing costs would be about $100 more a month rather than $1,000 as reported Wednesday and that the annual costs for added warrants and supplies would be about $500.

Lancaster County Commissioners this week approved a changeover from monthly paydays for county employes to every two weeks. However, it was pointed out that the annual salaries of employes would be divided into 26 payments and that employes would not gain an extra month's salary because of the changeover.

Commonwealth Electric Submits Low On Signals

Commonwealth Electric Co. was the apparent low bidder at $2,623 on traffic signals at 22nd and Vine St. and at 31st and Vine St.

Bids were opened Wednesday at the County-City Building.

ABC Electric Co. and Energy Electric Co. also submitted bids.

Gas Wells Bought

Bryn Mawr, Pa. (UPI) — Kewanee Oil Co. bought 15 offshore gas wells in West Cameron Block 17 of Cameron Parish, La., from Stan Oil Co. of Chicago for $1.4 million in cash and oil payments.

Dennis Fettinger Named To Board

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf announced Wednesday he has appointed Dennis Fettinger to the City Personnel Board.

The appointment is scheduled to be acted on by the City Council at the regular meeting Monday.

CB&Q Asks Discontinuance Of Trains 3, 4

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Co. has made application with the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to discontinue operation of Trains 3 and 4 between Lincoln and Chicago.

A deciding factor in the proposed cancellation of the trains was the Post Office Department's decision to discontinue the Railway Post Office car on the trains after June 27.

In addition, the through storage mail and baggage car on these trains will also be discontinued, railroad officials said.

With the loss of postal revenue, officials said, the projected loss of operation for Trains 3 and 4 for a 12-month period — July 1, 1969 to July 1, 1970 — would be about $422,000.

If the discontinuance is approved by the ICC, the communities now served by Trains 3 and 4 would continue to have passenger trains serving their towns by daytime Nebraska Zephyr Trains 11 and 12, and most of them would also be served by Denver Zephyr Trains 1 and 2 and/or California Zepher Trains 17 and 18.

Time was, most fathers had to get their corned beef in restaurants. But now there's no reason why they can't enjoy it at home, too. Because Swift has made a corned beef so tender that you don't have to boil, watch or wonder about it. You oven roast it, so it comes out browned and beautiful, tender and juicy every time. So surprise him this Sunday with Swift's Premium Corned Beef for Oven Roasting. There's hardly a father around who won't love you for it.

Morning Spotlight Turns On Guests

This morning we're tearing ourselves away from next week's Swingfest guests and their activities to talk of other guests and other activities. It certainly will come as no surprise that there also are brides-elect — and their parties — to mention—

* * *

One of the brides-elect and one of the guests involved in party activity this evening are Miss Ann O'Connor and her father, Allen T. O'Connor of Longmeadow, Mass.

Mr. O'Connor arrives today from Longmeadow and will be among the guests when Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss O'Connor tonight. The party is to be a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien.

Miss O'Connor, whose marriage to David Green is planned for Aug. 23, was also an honoree last Saturday when Mrs. Stanley Maly, Mrs. Max Cory and Mrs. Wilbur Wiedman were hostesses at a mother-daughter luncheon at the University Club. The bride-elect was presented with a hostess gift—

Then there was the party given recently for Miss O'Connor when three of her Kappa Alpha Theta sisters, Miss Patty Morrow, Miss P. J. Ryan and Mrs. Robert Wagner (Linda Olmstead) entertained at a pots-and-pans shower at the home of Miss Morrow.

* * *

There are more guests and more brides in the news this morning, but right now we want to talk about Eric Nils Ackerman who arrived on Tuesday, June 9. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ackerman who are residing in Monterey, Calif., while Mr. Ackerman, who is in the Army Reserves, attends the Army Language School. The language? Japanese. The baby's paternal grandparents, as you may have guessed, are Mr. and Mrs. James N. Ackerman, and his paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Doty. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erdman of Minneapolis are the maternal grandparents.

* * *

Before we open the brides' book again we want to tell you that Mrs. M. A. Hickey (Cathie McMullen — Delta Delta Delta at Nebraska) and her five children, Timothy, Sheila, Maureen, Nora and Patrick, will be arriving on Saturday from Albuquerque, N. Mex., for a visit with Mrs. Hickey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McMullen.

The guest sixsome will be accompanied to Lincoln by Miss Peggy Rose, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rose, who has just completed her sophomore year at the University of New Mexico.

* * *

Saturday, June 14, is the wedding day of Miss Mary Guilford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Guilford, to John Unthank, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Unthank. It is to be an afternoon ceremony at the First-Plymouth Congregational Church.

For her maid of honor Miss Guilford has chosen her sister, Miss Barbara Guilford, and her bridesmaid will be Miss Barbara Handschuh of Omaha. Mrs. Richard Benter of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Steven McWhorter of Ft. Riley, Kan., will be the bridesmatron.

Eric Hoiberg will serve Mr. Unthank as best man, and the groomsmen will include Thomas Nickerson of Dallas, Tex.; Cyrus North of York, and John Roehl. The corps of ushers will include William Ahlstrand of Omaha; James Ensz of Beatrice, and the bride's brothers, William Guilford and Dale Guilford.

MISS DONNA IDENS

This morrning Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Idens of Adams make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Donna, to Rodney J. Schwartz, Jr., of Kansas City, Mo., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney J. Schwartz of Lincoln.

The wedding will be an event of the late summer.

Miss Idens is a senior at the Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing.

Mr. Schwartz is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Engineeering and his fraternity is Theta Xi. He now is with the Atomic Energy Commission at the Bendix Corp., in Kansas City.

Club Tea

The June program of the Lincoln Christian Women's Club will be held Thursday afternoon when the organization will meet for a 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock tea at the Goveror's Mansion.

The members and their guests will be welcomed by Mrs. Norbert Tiemann, and the program will include chamber music, and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Barton Johnson. Miss Myrtle Baron, national director of the organization, will speak.

Baby-sitting will be available at the First Baptist Church, 1340 K.

The Public Never To See Beautiful Art Discovery

(c) New York Times Service
(London Times Dispatch)

Paris — A previously unknown masterpiece by Jordaens, a painting of the Holy Family which the world will never see, has been discovered at the Louvre.

It lies hidden for all time beneath the surface of another painting by the seventeenth-century Flemish master — his Adoration of the Magi — and no technique exists for separating the two paint surfaces.

Its quality, according to experts here who have closely examined x-rays of it, is probably superior even to that of the Adoration.

The important new find came to light at the Louvre laboratory when the painting, belonging to the Cherbourg Art Gallery, was sent for restoration. Photographs taken of its surface under powerful lateral light beams provided the first clue — the outline of a second, smaller panel hidden within the main picture. X-rays then revealed to astonished art historians the unknown masterpiece lying directly across the later work.

"The precision of the drawing and the vigor of the modeling are such that we think the esthetic quality of the work is higher than that of the Adoration," said Mme. Madeleine Hours, head of the new Louvre laboratory.

She explained why it would be impossible to recover Jordaen's Holy Family without destroying his Adoration. Oil paint, she said, sometimes took up to 40 years or more to dry completely. Fresh paint applied on top within that period fused into it, making separation impossible. Nor did she think techniques could ever be evolved enabling it to be done.

It had been decided, she said, not to try to rescue the Holy Family at the cost of losing the Adoration.

Abby: be grateful

DEAR ABBY: I have a couple of parents like you wouldn't believe. My mother would have made a perfect warden for San Quentin, and my father should have been with the FBI. They never take my word for anything. No matter what I say, they check up on me.

Abby, I am a 15-year-old honor roll student. I don't lie, but I am treated like a criminal. Sometimes I feel like taking off and never coming back. I am an only child, but that's no excuse. How does a guy get his parents to trust him?

JOHNNY

DEAR JOHNNY: Your parents probably check up on you because they think you're too good to be true. Don't resent it. Be grateful that they care enough about you to want to know where you are and what you're up to. Just keep on being trustworthy and you'll find them trusting you more, and checking you less.

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who I am sure does not hear half of what is going on, but she absolutely refuses to admit that she is deaf! Everyone yells at her, and even then they have to repeat what they've said two or three times.

I once mentioned that I thought she should have her hearing tested and she exploded in anger. Why is it a disgrace to wear a hearing aid? People who can't see are perfectly willing to go to an eye doctor and get themselves fitted with glasses.

Now, what do you do with a stubborn ox like that?

CONCERNED RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: Until this relative is willing to admit that she has a hearing loss, you may as well talk to the wall. There are none so deaf as those who will not hear.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Suburbia—Busy As Usual

It seems that just about all suburban residents have been busy all of this week preparing for Sunday which, as we all know, is Father's Day. Apparently there are as many ways to celebrate Father's Day as there are dads. Some dads, for instance, may wake up on Sunday morning to find that they are being served breakfast in bed —or maybe that their favorite breakfast menu is cooking on the stove. Then there are others who will find that it is REALLY their day and that they are free to do what ever they like. But no matter how dad celebrates his day we know that the message is the same in every home — Dad you're great!

As important as Father's Day is the suburban populace hasn't been too busy to remember several other special events that also took place during the past week.

Today is a special day for Eastwood resident Bill Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson, since he is celebrating his sixth birthday. We understand that a birthday party has been planned for this afternoon and that the guests will include Scott Mills, Dan Reyneirse, Eddie Forman, Eric Peterson, Cathy Gilbert, Christine Grandgenette and, of course, his older sister Anne.

Special guests at the party will be Bill's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Kurtz of Kansas.

An extremely busy bride this month is Northeast Heights resident Carol Wedberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wedberg. On Sunday Miss Wedberg attended a linen and kitchen shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt where the guest list included Mrs. James Knoch of Leigh, mother of the honoree's fiance, James Knich, Carol Teinachert and Karen Hunt.

While special occasions have been occupying a great deal of time as far as suburban residents are concerned they still have had an opportunity to welcome out of town guests. One of the 'welcomes' was at the Wedgewood Manor home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hendricks whose guests last week were Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Smith of Oakland, Calif. Following their week long visit with Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Smith continued their trip which will include a stop in Robinson, Ill., where they will visit their son.

Party Pays Courtesy To Jan Wright

When Miss Trudy Duemey entertained at her home last Sunday afternoon, the party paid prenuptial courtesy to Miss Jan Wright, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. George A. Wright of Ft. Worth, Tex., formerly of Lincoln, whose marriage to Thomas Sorensen will take place in August. During the informal afternoon the bride-elect was presented with a shower.

Seated on the floor and the dispenser of shower gifts is Miss Lynn Johnson.

Afternoon Church Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Mary Nun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nun of Ohiowa, and Harlan Mettenbrink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mettenbrink of Grand Island, took place Sunday afternoon, June 1, at St. Thomas Aquinas Church on the University of Nebraska campus. The 2 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Raymond Hain.

Mrs. Robert E. Lee, as her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Elaine Prasheil of Exeter, and Mrs. Dennis Carmichael of Wymore, wore floor-length frocks fashioned with full-sleeved bodices of navy blue silk organza and dirndl skirts of floral-printed navy voile. They carried rounded bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Serving as best man was Larry Henderson of Bay City, Tex., and seating the guests were John Vondras of Plattsmouth, and Robert E. Lee. The groomsmen were Howard Rickel, Topeka, Kan., and Herbert Mettenbrink, Grand Island.

Designed in the Victorian mode, the bride's gown of candlelight silk organza was trimmed with white lace. The lace edged the high throatline and patterned the front of the tucked bodice, which was completed by long, full sleeves, and the lace was repeated at the hem of the bouffant skirt. A chignon cluster of organza and satin loops held to the head her train-length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a nosegay of yellow Fujii chrysanthemums and white statice.

Mr. and Mrs. Mettenbrink, both University of Nebraska graduates, will make their home in Glenwood, Iowa. The bridegroom is a member of Triangle fraternity.

POSTCARD by Star Bob Lacher

An unseasonal rain dripped on us during the night. When I went out in the morning the paper was wet. The flowers were droopy.

The weeds were the picture of health.

It was a great day for the snails. They were busy eating up the garden.

"Do you realize what I have to pay for hamburger?" cried the household wren from the kitchen.

☆ ☆ ☆

We rise to a world of rising prices — it must keep many a household on edge.

One thing that boosts hamburger prices, the cattle raisers are feeding the cows penicillin. Whether they need it or not, they get this germ killer. It is supposed to keep all the cows healthy.

It does this. But a little bit of penicillin gets into the hamburger. And thus into you and me.

Not enough to kill germs in us. Just enough so the germs begin to like penicillin.

"This isn't bad sauce once you get used to it, Joe," they say. "Here, try some."

Thus you can build up a strain of germs that laughs at what the doctor gives you. And with half a chance, murders you! That's what.

☆ ☆ ☆

We eat a lot of hamburger around here. Us, the children, the cats and kittens.

Enough that we scan the ads for who's selling hamburger cheapest.

The household wren said: "Here's chuck at 89 cents at Red Market. But I can get it for 69 at Blue Market."

I said: "But you have to drive five miles. You'll use up what you save in gas."

What a way to start a day.

A bill came up in our legislature the other day. It was about lobbyists. A lobbyist is the representative of a business organization.

He lets our representatives know how business feels about things.

The oil people have a lobbyist. Cattle people hire lobbyists. Hairdressers have lobbyists and so do undertakers.

☆ ☆ ☆

This is quite legal and ethical. The other day a bill was put up that all our legislators should make sworn statements about any business dealings they'd had with lobbyists.

It was not debated. Nobody said a word.

The bill was killed by the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee. So it must have been an inefficient idea.

(I should stop reading the paper before coffee.)

"Will you look at what they're charging for coffee?" she cried.

Morning is when we grit our teeth to face the day.

☆ ☆ ☆

It's hard to keep track of your elected representative. (Did he vote against letting cows eat penicillin? Who knows?)

At election time, my representative implores me to "look at the record."

Sometimes he means his record. Sometimes he means the other man's.

Records are hard to look at. Smart people keep records like an iceberg — nine-tenths below the surface.

"If this keeps up, I'm going to write our congressman," shouted the household wren. "What's his name?"

☆ ☆ ☆

We have yet to score on the supermarket pasteup numbers. No wins on the free money tickets passed out by the gas station.

We have pasted up stamp books like crazy.

The winning number is always missing. It's maddening.

The household wren said: "I think I'll go out and get my hair done." (That's a sign she's really feeling it.)

"Don't forget to buy some beer," I said. (That's a sign I'm feeling it, too.)

Legislation To Increase Truck Weight Limits Advanced

Legislation to increase maximum truck weight limits on Nebraska highways other than the Interstate won second round voice vote approval Wednesday after a number of senators denied that the Unicameral is bowing to trucking lobbyists.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff criticized the Omaha World-Hearld for an editorial page cartoon which pictured trucking interests joining with the Legislature to run the public off the roads.

Both Carpenter and Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said they have not even been contacted by trucking interests.

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, chief sponsor of the truck weight bill, LB911, said it has the support of the Department of Roads.

Will Post Roads

The department has assured him that it will post any roads which are not capable of carrying the increased weights, Holmquist said. Future road contruction will then bring those highways up to acceptable standards, he noted.

Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt said the bill should be held for further study.

LB911 increases weight limitations for trucks operating on roads other than the Interstate, but repeals the present 5% weight tolerance on single and tandem axles and the 3% tolerance on overall gross weight.

The maximum weight for single axles would be increased from 18,900 pounds (with tolerance) to 20,000 pounds, and the maximum for tandem axles would be boosted from 33,600 to 34,000 pounds.

Substantial Increase

Weights on large trucks would be increased substantially.

For instance, a six-axle double bottom truck would be permitted to carry 90,000 pounds rather than a maximum of 73,280 pounds.

And a new seven-axle scale would be implemented with weight maximums 5,000 pounds over the six-axle schedule.

Holmquist said the trucking industry is vitally important to the state's economy and should be permitted to operate as efficiently as possible.

Trucks are particularly needed as railroads decrease or restrict their services, Carpenter said. Greater weights will permit trucks to haul Nebraska products at less cost, he noted.

Lincoln has many beautiful parks, but why don't they pave or put some rock on the roads in Oak Lake Park? When it rains, it is almost impossible to go there and sometimes the roads are closed. —A Park Lover, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Park and Recreation Superintendent James Ager says some rock has been placed on roads in the area, but he is in agreement about the road conditions when it rains. Frankly, Ager says, there has not been enough money to further improve the roads.

Can't something be done about all the accidents at the intersection of 66th and Vine? No one seems to observe the traffic signs. —Mrs. E. Fisher, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The city traffic engineer's office was on the problem before you phoned and the intersection is now somewhat safer. Seems the stop sign for 66th St. was partially hidden by a utility pole. Now there is a new, larger stop sign moved out from the area of the pole.

I hope someone is kidding me. Is it true the Legislature down in Florida wants to change the name of Cape Kennedy back to Cape Canaveral? —Irate, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The Florida Legislature passed a resolution asking President Nixon and Congress to keep the name Cape Kennedy at the Space Center, but to change the name of the triangular cape on which the spacesport is located if U.S. Senator Edward Kennedy agrees. The Florida lawmaking body noted that 93% of those asked by a Cape Kennedy area newspaper favor restoring the name "Cape Canaveral."

My house was recently TPed. Is there some way the offenders can be prosecuted? —S.R., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: For the uninitiated, to TP a house means to take rolls of toilet tissue and adorn the house and bushes and trees near the house. Contact your personal attorney concerning prosecution.

Could you tell me where I could get some information on the International Organization of Turtles? —W.B., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: From a member. Someday the question "Are you a Turtle?" will be asked of you and then you shall know.

Why does a person have to be killed before a signal is put up at railroad crossings? When are they going to put up a signal at the North 70th St. crossing just off O St.? —B.J.D., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: There is a contract for a signal to be installed at that Missouri-Pacific Railroad crossing in conjunction with the O Street widening project near 70th St. to begin in late summer, possibly by August.

I understand there will be improvements made to O St. near 70th. What about detours while this is being completed? —East Lincolnite

ACTION LINE: A detour has been established by the State Roads Department and the city traffic engineer. When construction is in progress from 63rd to 70th along O St., the detour will be: North on 70th to Vine, west on Vine to Cotner and south on Cotner to O St. When construction blocks O St. from 70th eventually out to 84th St., the detour will be: South on 84th to A, west on A to 70th, north on 70th to O St. This construction will start in stages by late summer with major work in the 1970 construction year.

If a full-time state employe gets fired, can he collect sick leave and vacation leave pay that has accrued? How about if he terminates employment himself? And if one feels unjustly fired, what avenue can one use to investigate? —D.M.J., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Regardless if a person is fired or quits, that person is entitled to the unused vacation leave pay, but not unused sick leave pay, says the State Personnel Department. Based on rules and regulations from the executive branch which governs administrative departments, the department head is the final authority.

Why is Richard W. Chapin allowed to serve in his elective capacity as Lincoln Airport Authority member and appointed member of the Pershing Auditorium board? —Wondering, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: According to the city attorney's office, there is no conflict in these two capacities. It should be noted also that the Airport Authority is authorized under state statute, while the auditorium board is authorized under city ordinance.

ACTION LINE REQUEST: Would G.H. of Tecumseh send his name and specifics pertaining to the order from the Chicago company? Otherwise it cannot be traced for you.

Bill Renaming Area Schools Technical Colleges Passed

By Associated Press

Nebraska's Legislature Wednesday passed and sent to the governor a bill renaming area vocational technical schools as "technical colleges."

The same bill, LB943, provides that credits earned at these technical colleges may be transferred to other institutions of higher education.

Sponsored by Sens. Maurice A. Kremer of Aurora, Ellen E. Craft of North Platte, Donald Elrod of Grand Island and Richard D. Marvel of Hastings, the bill was approved 39-2 on final reading, with Sens. Robert Clark of Sidney and Fern Orme of Lincoln casting the dissenting votes.

The original law creating the area trade schools provided that they would be designated by number. The first school thus formed would be Area Vocational Technical School No. 1; the second, No. 2, and so forth.

Under LB943, the first part of the school name would designate the general geographical location within the state. Thus, the Mid-Plains Area Vocational Technical School at North Platte, for instance, would become the Mid-Plains Nebraska Technical College.

Duration of terms of members of governing boards of the trade schools, procedures for filling vacancies, also are clarified by the new bill.

Another bill passed Wednesday, Hastings Sen. Richard Marvel's LB704, authorizes first class cities to charge admission to libraries, reading rooms, art galleries and museums, and to use proceeds to pay off museum bonds. LB704 passed on a 42-0 vote.

The list of bills passed (E-emergency clause)

LB664 (Luedtke) — Recognizing that beneficiary or ownership designations under various types of contracts are not subject to laws governing transfer of property by will. 39-0.

LB704 (Marvel) — Authorizing first class cities to charge admission to libraries, reading rooms, art galleries and museums, and use the proceeds to pay off museum bonds. (E). 42-0.

LB732 (Adamson, Whitney) — Providing for notices of delinquency when motor vehicle taxes have not been paid. 42-0.

LB943 (Kremer, Craft, Elrod, Marvel) — Renaming area vocational technical schools as "Nebraska Technical Colleges," and permitting credits to be transferred to other institutions of higher education. (E). 39-2.

LB1089 (Pedersen) — Permitting municipal court judges in any city to hold court for each other. (E). 42-0.

LB1104 (for the governor, by Judiciary Committee) — Variously revising procedures for registration of nonprofit corporations with secretary of state. 41-2.

LB1147 (for the governor, by Miscellaneous Subjects Committee) — Abolishing the historical land mark council and transferring its functions to the State Historical Society. 42-0.

LB1276 (Schmit) — Permitting county veterans' service officers to prepare applications for aid from Nebraska Veterans' Aid Fund. (E). 42-0.

LB1328 (for the governor, by Agriculture Committee) — Eliminating requirement that only Babcock test shall be used for test of butterfat content in milk or cream. 38-5.

LB1375 (Urban Affairs Committee) — Increasing from five to six per cent maximum interest which may be paid on county hospital bonds, and permitting placement of operating income in reserve for future improvements. (E). 44-0.

Senators Say They Are Law Abiding

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Members of the Nebraska Legislature joined Wednesday in advising citizens of the state that the senators are law abiding citizens who don't want to hide behind any constitutional immunity when it comes to traffic law violations.

Forty-seven of the 49 senators — all those available — joined in sponsorship of a resolution stating the position.

The resolution, adopted without dissent on a suspension of rules, urged the State Patrol to issue tickets to legislators for traffic violations, but to schedule the resulting court appearances so they will not interfere "with the performance of legislative duties or the attendance at any session of the Legislature."

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, who conceived the resolution, said the document is aimed at letting Nebraskans know that "we who write the laws want to abide by the laws."

Recent Incident

The resolution stems from a recent incident in which a trooper, Tom Roth, stopped a car carrying Omaha Sens. Eugene T. Mahoney and William R. Skarda Jr. for speeding. There were allegations that the senators used profanity and claimed immunity, but the senators have called the trooper's report a "fabrication."

The Nebraska Constitution, as Resolution 61 pointed out, contains a provision that legislators "in all cases except treason, felony or breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest during the session of the Legislature, and for 15 days next before the commencement and after the termination" of the session.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, in the wake of the Mahoney-Skarda incident, instructed the patrol to ticket state senators for traffic law violations, with prosecution to take place after the immunity period ends.

Tiemann Rapped

Tiemann's position came under fire in a floor speech by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter read a newspaper story quoting Tiemann as saying, with reference to use by legislators of their immunity as a shield for law violation: "It's uncalled for and I won't stand for it, and I don't think the people of the state will stand for it either."

Said Carpenter: "Now the least the governor of the state of Nebraska can do is to publicly apologize to this Legislature for that statement."

Carpenter noted that Trooper Roth has since been designated the governor's chauffeur. Carpenter said the trooper has been "promoted, upgraded and anointed."

Surveillance Alleged

Carpenter alleged also that troopers have been assigned to surveillance of some senators "to see if they are doing anything immoral, illegal or otherwise."

The discussion ranged widely.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway wondered why the governor should be supplied a trooper as a chauffeur. The governor "ought to be driving for himself," Waldron said.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha said Tiemann should not be condemned for enforcing laws of the state because that's his job. He also cited attorney general's opinions which indicate that senators are "nowhere near as immune as you think you are."

Sen. Burbach said the immunity clause is written into the constitution of all states, and similar immunity is granted members of the U.S. Congress.

At one point, Sen. William Wylie of Elgin reported he now is driving on nine traffic violation points. And Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa reported he was twice ticketed last summer, all of which prompted Lt. Gov. John E. Everroad, as presiding officer, to ask: "Is this true confession day?"

Retirement Unit Advances 5 Bills

The Legislature's Retirement Systems Advisory Committee Wednesday sent five bills to the floor and killed a sixth measure.

Killed was Callaway Sen. J. James Waldron's LB802 which would have increased the amount a judge could receive upon retirement.

Bills advanced to the floor included:

An amended LB530, Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen's bill increasing retirement benefits for Omaha school district teachers retiring after Sept. 1, 1969.

An amended version of LB790, Lincoln Sen. Roland A. Luedtke's bill revising school retirement systems.

An amended version of Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner's LB793 harmonizing provisions of school retirement system law with previous legislation.

LB825, Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's bill redefining terms and otherwise revising law related to retirement system for counties.

An amended LB1228, Sidney Sen. Robert L. Clark's measure providing that first class cities may contribute money for funding past service benefits of employe retirement programs.

Solons Back Regional State Offices Plan

The legislature adopted a resolution Wednesday endorsing a proposal by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann that regional state government offices be established to serve outstate Nebraskans.

The resolution was adopted on a 25-1 vote with only State Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa casting a "no" vote.

The resolution also directs the governor to conduct a study of alternative office sites and to propose means of developing them over a period of time.

The Legislature's adoption of LR59 is in direct response to a request made by the governor in a report presented earlier to the Unicameral.

The report recommended that all state government agencies located outside the State Capital be grouped together so that access to them would be more convenient for the people.

It recommended centers be established at Ainsworth, McCook, Norfolk, North Platte, Omaha, Scottsbluff-Gering and Kearney, Grand Island, Hastings.

Marvel Says Cut In Institute's Budget Reflects Dissatisfaction

The Budget Committee's $1.8 million cut from the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute's request for state funding during the coming biennium reflects legislative dissatisfaction with its current program, Sen. Richard Marvel said Wednesday.

"This is a message (for NPI) to go through a shakedown cruise," Marvel said.

The Institute "has to be rebuilt," he declared. "It has been neglected since about 1964 . . . subjected to serious neglect with empty wings and an inadequate training program."

NPI was provided $3.4 million in recommended appropriations from the Budget Committee, including $2.7 million from the state general fund.

NPI officials were unable to "justify the expenditure of money" which they requested, Marvel said.

Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha suggested that restoration of $600,000 in requested funds may be required if the effectiveness of the Institute is not to be "curtailed."

Discussion of the Omaha-based operation erupted during deliberations on LB1421, the Budget Committee's operational appropriations proposal.

Welfare Funding

Marvel, committee chairman, told his colleagues that welfare funding will be increased in every category except assistance to the aged, the blind and the disabled.

The committee recommended $20 million in funding for that category to reflect the Department of Public Welfare's anticipated decrease in recipient rolls. Funding was at a $21.3 million level for the current biennium.

Medicaid funding would be boosted from $45 million to $52 million. The committee hopes its increasing costs can be better controlled in the future as a result of a utilization study of administration of the program in hospitals and nursing homes, Marvel said.

Aid Hike

Aid to dependent children would be hiked from $24 million to $26.7 million, and funding for foster care would be increased from $747,000 to $906,000.

Danner informed the Legislature that he will attempt to amend the Department of Institutions budget in a supplementary appropriations bill to provide funds for establishment of a vocational technical school in Omaha.

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha indicated that he will propose an amendment which would prohibit the State Board of Education from spending funds for attorney fees.

Other Discussion

In other discussion, Marvel told lawmakers:

—continuation of Orthopedic Hospital operations in Lincoln was proposed for the biennium.

—continuation of the Department of Agriculture's brucellosis control program, at a cost of $175,000, was recommended for one more year, despite its rejection by the governor.

—extra salary increases were recommended for employes in environmental health services. They would receive a 10% pay boost the first year and 5% the second year, whereas most state employes would get 5% each year of the biennium

—funding for the Cozad school for the mentally retarded was proposed for only one year in anticipation of its future operation by an educational service unit.

Reason

Marvel, responding to some criticism that he may have irritated a number of executive departmental officers during their appearance before the Budget Committee, explained to lawmakers:

"If I smile, they ask for a million dollars more. That's the reason I don't smile."

Development Budget Cut Hit

The Nebraska Department of Economic Development Committee Wednesday expressed what it termed "deep concern" over the budget recommended for the department by the Legislature's Budget Committee.

Committee Chairman Bennett Martin of Lincoln said the department's programs of creating job opportunities, stimulating planning and community development and finding new uses for farm products will be handicapped by insufficient funding if the recommended budget is approved.

"The state should be accelerating their programs rather than cutting them back at this time when industry is moving westward and Congress is considering programs for rural industrialization," Martin said.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann recommended a two-year appropriation of $2,240,293 for the department. The committee recommended $1,259,633.

Consolidation Of Special Purpose Units Advances

The Legislature's Agriculture Committee Wednesday approved a bill to consolidate Nebraska's 150 different types of special purpose districts into 30 to 50 "natural resource districts."

The measure, LB1356, which was sent to the floor on a 6-0 vote, would "revolutionize" the conservation of the state's natural resources, according to its sponsors.

Under the bill, the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission would draw up the proposed natural resource districts which would vary between 500 and 6,000 square miles.

Each district would be governed by a board of directors elected on a nonpartisan basis with broad powers that would include the authority to levy taxes, issue revenue bonds and condemn land.

Russia, China Fire Charges After Clash

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union and Communist China accused each other Wednesday of provoking a new Central Asian border incident involving a small clash between their troops.

The Soviet foreign ministry in a protest note accused the Chinese of invading Soviet territory Tuesday in the Kazakhstan area across from China's far western Sinkiang province. It said Moscow holds Peking "responsible for the serious consequence of these provocations."

Peking in its protest contended the Russians were trying to "provoke still larger armed conflicts" and said the incident is "developing."

Disruption Suspected Aim

The Russians suggested the Chinese were trying to disrupt the world Communist conference — meeting in Moscow minus China — and efforts to settle disputed border lines.

The Soviet note did not mention any casualties or say how many troops were involved. The new border flareup was the first to be confirmed by Moscow since the bloody March battles on the Ussuri River.

Peking claimed Soviet troops backed by tanks crossed into Sinkiang province and killed one Chinese woman shepherd and kidnaped a fellow herdsman.

The Soviet foreign ministry contended that Peking "grossly distorted events" and "organized a provocation."

May 4 Note

It disclosed that the Kremlin had delivered a note May 4 warning Chinese authorities against incidents in the Sinkiang-Kazakhstan area. But, it said, "the Chinese side not only did not take the necessary measures but continued on the road to further complicating the situation along this part of the border."

The arena of the small clash lies amid vast pastoral, semidesert, sparsely populated lands.

Sinkiang, where China's nuclear base is located, spreads over 700,000 square miles and is the largest Chinese province in area. Kazakhstan, with 1,063,200 square miles is the second largest constituent republic of the Soviet Union.

N.Vietnamese Kill Stepson Of Stewart

Dong Ha, Vietnam (UPI) — Marine 1st Lt. Ronald W. McLean, stepson of film star James Stewart, was killed Sunday in a fire fight near the demilitarized zone, it was disclosed Wednesday.

McLean, 24, of Beverly Hills, Calif., was killed while leading a five-man reconnaissance patrol on an intelligence mission in Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province.

His unit was trapped by North Vietnamese regulars who shot down three rescue helicopters and fought off a platoon of Leatherneck reinforcements, according to Marine sources.

The Leathernecks eventually fought their way out of the ambush.

McLean was the son of Gloria Hatrick McLean, whom Stewart married Aug. 9, 1949, and Edward McLean.

SDS Selects Chicago

Chicago (UPI) — The radical Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) Wednesday threw down the gauntlet to Chicago and announced its 1969 national convention, which has been barred by campuses throughout the nation, will be held in the city beginning June 18.

"We don't want any trouble, and if there is any it will be caused by Mayor (Richard J.) Daley and his fascist pig police," Bernadine Dohrn, a SDS national secretary, said in a news conference.

The SDS' quest for a convention site has been difficult.

Michael Klonsky, another national secretary who appeared at the news conference, said his organization had been refused by at least 37 colleges and universities and by at least 25 meeting halls, parks and camps.

Gene Littler The Man To Watch On Eve Of U.S. Open

Houston (AP) — Bill Casper and Gary Player are furnace hot, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus are ice cold and in between is luke-warm Gene Littler, the man to watch in the 69th U.S. Open Golf Championship, starting Thursday.

"He's the forgotten man of the tournament — the course is tailormade for him, he could take it all," former PGA titleholder Dave Marr told a locker-room assemblage as 139 pros and 11 amateurs put in final practice licks for the four-day, 72-hole test over The Champions' Cypress Club layout.

Littler, 38, the quiet man from San Diego, Calif., who is blessed with a perfect one-piece swing, could be the most celebrated dark-horse ever to tee up a ball in this aged championship.

He is the year's leading money winner with more than $101,000 in official earnings. He is one of three players who has won two tournaments. He has a steady, mechanical game that rarely develops flaws. Nobody's noticed him.

He is very fond of the sprawling, tree-lined and snake-infested course — a 6,967-yard spread playing to a par 35-35—70 — but he typically shrugs off his own chances.

"Shucks, I'm not playing that well," he said. "I've played only two tournaments since the Masters and I'm not hitting the ball that flush. Still, I remember I was playing pretty bad when I went to Oakland Hills at Birmingham, Mich., and won the Open in 1961."

The first threesome, composed of Roy Beattie, Dick Rhyan and Henry Johnson, takes off at 7:30 a.m., CDT. They'd better not forget their umbrellas. The forecast is for two days of cloudy, drizzly weather following humid 90-degree temperatures.

Littler is in one of the first blue-ribbon groups on the course. He is bracketed with PGA champion Julius Boros and former British Open titleholder Bob Charles of New Zealand at 9:39 a.m., CDT.

Palmer, seeking to break a prolonged slump, is off at 10:04 a.m. with Australian Kel Nagle and ex-amateur champion Deane Beman, now a freshman pro. Player is with defending champion Lee Trevino and Amateur champion Bruce Fleisher at 12:47 p.m.

Casper, 1968 leading money winner and Pro of The Year, starts at 1:18 p.m. with Dan Sikes and roly-poly Bob Murphy. Nicklaus is a late starter at 1:35 p.m. with ageless Sam Snead and Davey Marr.

Casper, currently rated the best golfer in the world, comes to the Open with the impetus of a smashing victory last week in the Western Open.

"I don't play well here but I love the course," Casper said.

Player, the tough little craftsman from South Africa who has won every major pro title at least once and who currently holds the British Open crown, is the choice of the computer machines and the hardened realists.

In 10 tournaments on the American tour so far this season, he has the best scoring average — 69.8 average per round, the only one under 70— and his over-all play has been the most consistent.

"I could win here," Player says unflinchingly.

Then he went out and posted a 65 for his final round over the course.

"But you must remember," he said, "a practice round is like shadow boxing. It looks nice but doesn't mean anything."

The 69th Open presents a stern challenge to two of the game's all-time great stars, Palmer and Nicklaus, both in the throes of atrocious and depressing slumps.

"My putting is killing me but I think I've found the answer — I'm stroking the ball much better," said Palmer, 39, golf's multi-millionaire all-time money champion. He hasn't had a major victory since the 1964 Masters.

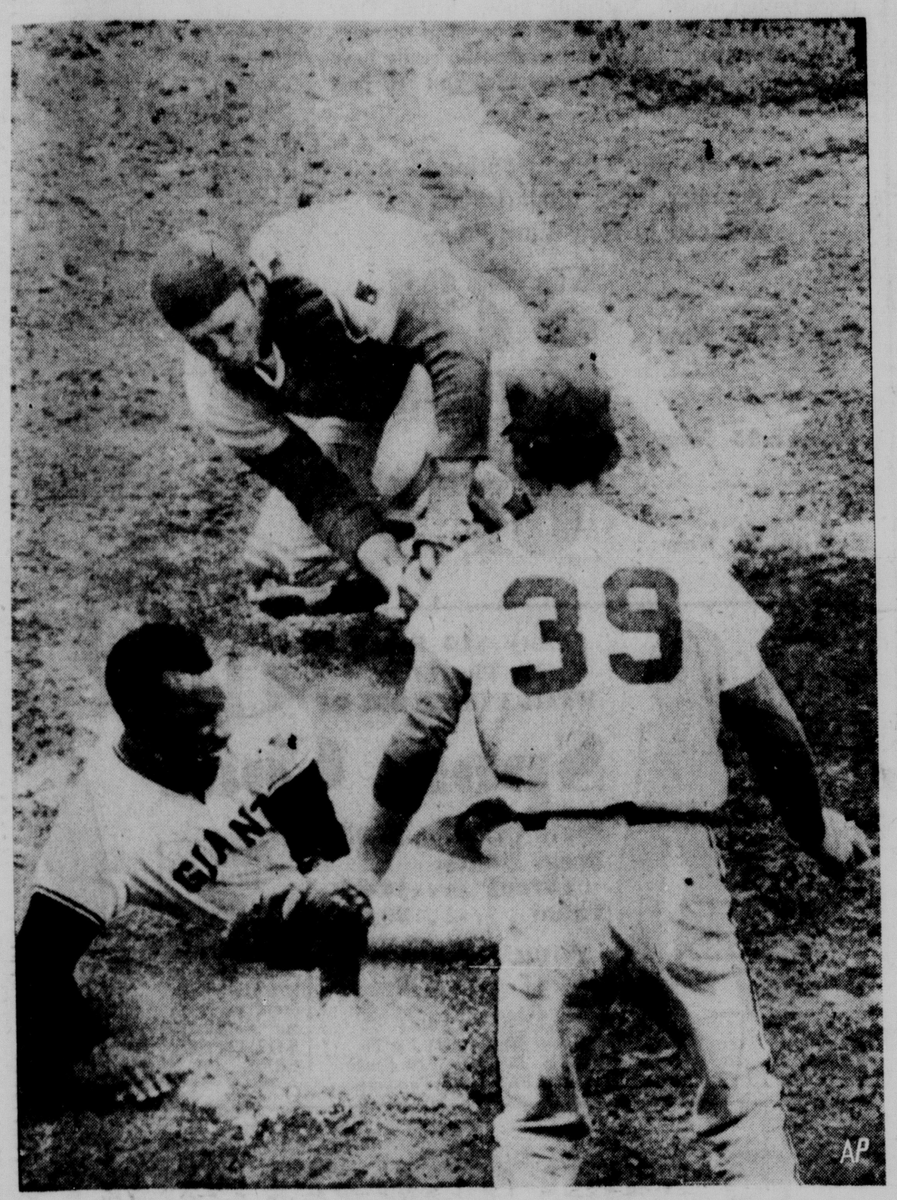
"I know what I want to do but can't do it," moans Nicklaus, a two-time winner, who has been better than 16th in only one of his last eight tournaments. He is hooking and slicing all over the place.

The voluble Trevino, who turned the 1968 championship into a $1 million bonanza, says he's mentally ready and warns, "I think I can win it again," while Masters champion George Archer, the 6-foot-6 California cowboy, contends, "I wasn't ready when I came here but I've snapped out of it." Boros has stomach problems.

BRAVES CRACK CUBS, 5-1

Niekro's 2-Hitter Nets First Win Over Bruins

. . . MET STREAK ENDED BY PERRY



AN OUCH OF AN OUT . . . San Francisco's Bobby Bonds grimaces as he is tagged out at home by Mets' Jerry Grote as he attempted to score from second on Ron Hunt's single.

By Associated Press

Knuckleballer Phil Niekro won his 10th game Wednesday night, pitching a two-hitter that led the Atlanta Braves to their first 1969 victory over the Chicago Cubs, 5-1.

Niekro, who has lost four times, retired the first 15 Cubs he faced before Randy Hundley broke up the no-hit bid with a leadoff home run in the sixth inning.

The Braves, beaten the first four times they played the Cubs, jumped to a four-run lead in the first inning when they chased Chicago starter Bill Hands.

Mike Lum and Sonny Jackson singled, Hank Aaron walked and Orlando Cepeda cracked a two-run double. Aaron scored on Darrell Evans' sacrifice fly and Cepeda dashed home on Felix Millan's single before Rich Nye came on and snuffed the outburst.

Gaylord Perry survived a spitball argument with an umpire and a slight leg muscle pull in breaking the New York Mets' all-time winning streak.

Perry pitched the San Francisco Giants to a 7-2 triumph over the Mets, ending an 11-game streak for the Mets.

Ron Hunt, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey smashed key hits for the Giants as they snapped the longest winning streak in the majors this season.

Vada Pinson homered and singled for three runs and Lou Brock lashed a double and a single for three more as the St. Louis Cardinals mauled the Cincinnati Reds 10-5.

Jim "Mudcat" Grant relieved St. Louis starter Mike Torrez in the third inning and scattered seven hits the rest of the way to earn his first victory with the Cardinals.

Pinch hitter Bobby Cox lashed a two-out run-scoring double in the 11th inning, giving the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over Kansas City.

Lou Piniella's booming, two-run, inside-the-park homer put the Royals ahead 4-2 in the eighth inning, but the Yankees rallied for a tie in the ninth on singles by Jerry Kenney and Bobby Murcer, Joe Pepitone's grounder and a single by Jim Lyttle.

Reggie Jackson's second home run of the game, a leadoff blast in the 13th inning, sparked the Oakland Athletics to a 6-4 victory over Washington as President Nixon, in a rare trip by a Chief Executive to a baseball game, looked on.

Consecutive errors by Vern Fuller and Tony Horton helped the Chicago White Sox push over three unearned runs in the seventh inning for a 4-3 victory over Luis Tiant and the Cleveland Indians at Milwaukee.

Roberto Clemente's grand slam homer climaxed a six-run sixth inning explosion and paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 13-8 victory over Houston.

Tom Satriano's two-out two-run single gave the California Angels a 14-inning, 7-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Jim Price's two-out double capped a two-run rally in the 10th inning that vaulted the Detroit Tigers to a 4-3 victory over Seattle.

Rookie Joe Lahoud lined three home runs into the right field bleachers as the Boston Red Sox clobbered the Minnesota Twins 135.

Dick Schofield ripped three doubles and George Scott and Reggie Smith each punched out three singles

Pittenger Aces Valley View 5th

Central City — University of Nebraska ticket manager Jim Pittenger aced the 163-yard fifth hole at the Valley View Country Club here Tuesday, playing with Bob Albee, Juke Byers and Charles Phares.

Some of Jim's friends promptly went downtown, purchased a shiny 1959 automobile and presented the keys to him at the course in honor of the hole-in-one.

Turner At Top In Determination

. . . IN BOYS JUNIOR CITY GOLF TOURNEY

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

While Thurman Hinds continued his march toward the Boys Junior City golf championship a young fellow named Mike Turner appeared headed for a dubious distinction of a different sort.

Mike won't be winning any golf trophies this summer, but if an award were to be given for determination he'd have to be a front-running candidate.

Mike is dead last in the field of some 100 boys and this is the third straight year he's been there.

But Mike doesn't let it get him down. He takes it in stride — rather philosophically, in fact.

"It doesn't bother me," Mike says of his grasp on last place. "I just think of it as coming up. Instead of having a rise and fall, I have a fall and rise," he smiles.

And while Mike may not yet be in the same class with some of the other young linksmen, he is encouraged by his steady progress.

"Three years ago I started off with about a 200 on the first round," says the 13-year-old Irving Junior High eighth grader. "Then last year I started off with about a 180 and this year around 150."

A check of last year's tournament results showed Mike's scores to be 182-174-167-177—700. This year he's shot 155-130-121—406 for the first three rounds.

At that rate he should finish the tournament today at Pioneers with a total of around 540 — roughly 160 strokes under last year's effort

Mike credits part of his improvement to a new set of clubs and especially the 7-iron that came with the set. "It's my favorite club," Mike says. "I use it on almost every shot."

And his Wednesday playing partner, Brad Packett, attests to Mike's success with the 7-iron. "I couldn't believe it," Brad said after the third round at the Hillcrest Country Club. "He really hits that 7-iron." And that includes off the tee where Mike says he gets about 150 yards — "more or less" — out of the seven.

Although Mike appears headed for last again this year, he's likely to be moving up if he learns to use the other clubs in his new set.

Mike is positive about his plans for the future. "I'll be back next year," he says, referring to the Junior City tournament.

"I think I can get into contention some day," Mike says. "But it'll be a long fight."

As for this year, Thurman appears certain to capture the championship as he leads Mike Aldrich by 12 strokes going into today's final round.

Thurman, suffering from early jiggers and having trouble with Wednesday's wet playing conditions, shot only an 85, but lost little ground as no one managed better than an 84.

Bostwick Upsets 3-Time British Amateur Champ

Hoylake, England (AP) — Pete Bostwick, 34-year-old stock broker from Locust Valley, N.Y., upset Ireland's Joe Carr, a three-time winner, and an unkown Frenchman ousted Californian Dick Davies, the 1962 titlist, Wednesday in the third round of the British Amateur golf championship.

Bostwick eliminated the 47-year-old Carr, 1 up, while Davies, of Huntington Harbor, Calif., fell before Raymond Wattine of Lille, France, 2 up.

Only four Americans survived the day's play. Eleven were eliminated.

The winners advanced to the final 32 along with England's Mike Bonallack, the defending champion; veterans Bill Hyndman III of Huntingdon Valley, Pa.; Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., and Pete Jacobi of Southampton, N.Y.

Third-round losers included Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles and Brazil; Warren Vanderbush of Closter, N.J.; Jack Oliver of Valdosta, Ga., and Dr. James Crawford of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Six other Americans were beaten in the morning's second round over the 6,950-yard, par 36-36—72 links of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club. They were Pete Zaccagnino Jr. of Hartford, Conn.; Woodward Millen of Locust Valley, N.Y.; Harry Welch of Salisbury, N.C.; Boyd O'Donnel of Los Costa, Calif.; Hunter McDonald of Southfield, Mich., and Bob Timbrook of Otter Creek, Ind.

After beating Millen in the morning's second round, 1 up, Bostwick was in great form for Carr. The 47-year-old captain of the British Walker Cup team had advanced earlier with a 3 and 2 victory over England's Ian Pearce.

Bostwick fired a 3-under-par 33 for a two-hole lead over Carr at nine, lost the 16th by three-putting and then halved the last two holes for the match. Bostwick sank an 18-foot putt for the half on the 17th hole.

Davies, 38, rallied from two holes back at nine to square his match at 16. But Wattine went 1 up with a par on the 17th and closed the match on the 18th by blasting out of a sand trap to within six inches of the hole for a par

Hyndman, 53-year-old former Walker Cup player, trounced two Englishmen, Geoff Birtwell and C. J. Woodford, by identical 6 and 5 scores.

Legion Tilts Juiced

The Midget and Junior Legion baseball games scheduled for Sherman Field Wednesday night were postponed because of wet grounds.

—DODGERS, CUBS, EXPOS DEAL—

Wills Returns To LA In Three-Team Trade

Los Angeles (AP) — Infielder Maury Wills came back to Los Angeles Wednesday in a three-cornered trade involving the Dodgers, the Montreal Expos and the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers traded Ron Fairly and Paul Popovich to the Expos for Wills and outfielder Manny Mota. Montreal then swapped infielder Popovich to the Cubs for center fielder Adolfo Phillips and relief pitcher Jack La Mabe.

Montreal then announced La Mabe would go to its Vancouver, B.C. farm club.

"We think our trade will help us. That's why we made it," said vice president Al Campanis of the Dodgers.

"We are trading two players, who are not playing, for Wills, who we expect to play, and Mota, who will play against lefthand pitchers."

The key figure in the switches, as far as the Dodgers were concerned, was Wills, their 36-year-old former captain. He was dealt to Pittsburgh by the Dodgers after a fallout with owner Walter O'Malley during the 1966 season. Along with Mota, he went to Montreal in the expansion draft last winter.

Wills, the shortstop who set a record of 104 stolen bases for Los Angeles in 1962, has been used at third base by Montreal. He was disappointing at bat.

"We needed more stability in the infield," Campanis said. "We feel the young talent we have will blend in with the experience."

Fairly and Popovich have seen little action. Fairly, an outfielder and 11-year man in the majors, all with Los Angeles, has been at bat but 64 times for .219. Ron is 31.

Popovich, a utility infielder who came to the Dodgers from the Cubs in 1968 and figured to win the short-stop job this year, was a victim of Los Angeles' youth movement as Ted Sizemore won the job. Popovich is 28.

Popovich presumably will fill in for the Cubs' Glenn Beckert at second base until the injured regular returns to the lineup.

Mota, 31, broke into the big leagues in 1963 with Pittsburgh and remained with the Pirates until drafted by Montreal.

Phillips went to the Cubs in 1967 from Philadelphia. He is 26.

Warriors Ink Bob Portman

San Francisco (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association announced Tuesday signing Bob Portman of Creighton, their top draft choice.

Portman, 22, a 6-foot-5, 200-pound forward, was raised in San Francisco and went to high school here before going to Creighton, where he became the highest scorer in that college's history.

"We have very high expectations for Portman," said General Manager Bob Ferrick, who said Portman is a fast-driving forward who can score from anywhere on the floor.

Portman was also drafted by the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

Portman was the fifth leading college scorer as a junior when he averaged 29.5 points per game. Last year as a senior, his average was 26.2.

Other Viet Talks Said In Progress

Washington (AP) — Vital private negotiations are going on in addition to the Paris peace talks with North Vietnam, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said Wednesday.

Ford said, in reply to a newsman's questions, that he could not discuss the substance of these talks.

Missing Man's Body Recovered From Sandpit

Bloomington (UPI) — Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church here for Edward Fegter, 47, of rural Bloomington, whose body was found floating in one of the Amman sandpits near here.

Sheriff's officers at nearby Franklin had headed a search since Mr. Fegter left his house about 4:30 last Tuesday morning. He had reportedly told his wife he was nervous and felt like going for a walk.

The sandpits are located one mile east and a mile south of the Fegter farmhouse. Authorities said Fegter could not swim.

Malaysia Leader Okay

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (UPI) — Prime Minister Tuneku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, who underwent eye surgery for glaucoma four days ago, is recovering satisfactorily and is expected to be dismissed from University Hospital in six days, a medical spokesman said.

SPUCC For Changing Gas Tax Refunds

Arapahoe (AP) — An altered formula for distributing state gasoline tax refunds that would increase the state's share at the expense of counties won approval of the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce here.

The recommendation suggested that 56% of the funds go to the state with 26% for counties and 18% for cities.

Current provisions allow the state, counties and cities 46, 36 and 18% respectively. A measure under legislative consideration would alter those percentages to 33⅓, 25⅓ and 21⅓%.

The vote, taken at the group's monthly meeting, aligned the chamber with a recommendation of the Nebraska Association of County Officials.

In other action, the chamber voted to oppose a Burlington Railroad application for authority to dualize station agencies at Kenesaw and Juniata.

Sidney Couple Trying To Find Their Daughter

Sidney (UPI) — A Sidney couple are trying to locate their 20-year-old daughter who left home a week ago to meet her husband at Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer said their daughter, Mrs. Sharon Kay Hickey, left last Tuesday night and went to Kearney where she picked up her brother-in-law, Michael Hickey, a student at Kearney State College.

The Meyers said the daughter said she would call them every night and advise where she was. She called Tuesday night from Nelson, Neb., and reported that she and Michael were having difficulty with the car's brakes and had them partially repaired.

Mrs. Hickey's husband was scheduled to return to Norfolk, Va., from sea duty.

The car Mrs. Hickey was driving was a 1965 white Chevrolet Impala with a turquoise top. It carried Nebraska license number 39-E679.

New Pool Okayed At Nebraska City

Nebraska City (AP) — Nebraska City voters Tuesday approved a $225,000 bond issue for construction of a new swimming pool.

The vote was 710 in favor to 454 against in what observers termed a light turnout.

Market Continues Its Steep Decline

New Yorg (AP) — The stock market — alarmed by the tightening money situation and increasing speculation about the possibility of a credit crunch—continued its steep slide Wednesday.

A White House statement that President Nixon has no plans to impose wage and price controls interrupted the downward trend only briefly around mid-day.

The market's fall had picked up speed late Tuesday after Treasury Secretary Kennedy indicated that the economy might have to be put under controls if Congress fails to extend the surtax beyond its current June 30 expiration date.

Larry Wachtel, vice president for research of the brokerage firm of Bache & Co., said that while Wall Street feels that the surtax will be continued, the "grinding tight money situation" is the overriding factor in the market's slump.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed with a loss of 7.89 at 904.60 — well down from its 1969 high of 968.85 on May 14. The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 2.8 to 321.7, another new 1969 low, with industrials off 3.3, rails off 1.8 and utilities off 1.7.

Again the market's setback was on a broad scale. Of 1,600 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 1,112 fell and 278 rose. The number of new 1969 lows soared to 374. New highs were reached by only four issues — De Soto, Florida East Coast, Standard Oil Ohio preferred B and Hiram Walker.

General Tire topped the most active list with a total of 330,900 shares, off ¾ at 21¾.

Brokers said the number of very large blocks traded on the Big Board indicated that institutional investors had entered the market, mainly to sell. These transactions included 200,000 shares of Parke, Davis, 199,700 shares of Eaton Yale, 199,500 shares of Borg-Warner and 150,000 shares of Textron.

The decline embraced steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, utilities, chemicals, rails, oils and airlines.

Loew's Theatres warrants, off ⅜ at 16½, led the American Stock Exchange most active list with total volume of 320,200, including a block of 186,600.

The price decline on the Amex was broad with 715 declines against 183 advances among 1,057 issues traded. The exchange index fell 28 cents to $29.79. Volume rose to 5.93 million shares from 4.92 million Tuesday.

Livestock Prices Up At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Recovery kicked into high gear on the Omaha livestock market for the second day Wednesday, making up all of the loss and returning to the level prevailing before Memorial Day.

A tempting offering of top-grading cattle spurred buyers, along with an upturn in carcass beef prices, to bid up values on fed steers and heifers by fully 25 cents to as much as 50 cents. Prices for the two-day period looked a solid 50 cents better than Monday.

Beef prices have recovered all of last week's decline as consumer demand remained strong at the retail level despite advancing price tags.

Best buyer demand centered on choice and better cattle with weight. Packers generally walked away from lighter cattle, but these kinds were generally picked up by eager feeder buyers, especially steers. Light heifers found the outlet somewhat narrower, but most did move.

Cows were steady. Bulls and few sales feeders were also steady.

Choice and prime steer beef and all grades heifer meat closed 50-1.00 higher here Tuesday; good grade steer steady to 50 up. Early sales choice steer and heifer meat Wednesday mostly 50 cents higher; trading was rather slow, however.

Beef steers set a new 17-year high of 36.35. One load choice to mostly prime 1,142 lb. Nebraska-fed beeves drew the ticket. Bulk choice 33.75-35.25, mostly 34.00 and up mixed good and choice down to 33.00. Two loads good 1,275-1,300 lb. Holsteins noted 30.50-30.75.

Hog prices continued to firm in fairly active trading. Butchers shaped up steady to 25 cents higher, sows mostly 25 cents better. Supplies remained moderate. Wholesale fresh pork prices edged upward.

Bulk 190-240 lb. barrows and gilts 25.00-25.75, a short deck 25.85. Weights to 280 lbs. down to 24.00. Sows bunched under a 22.50 peak.

Fat lambs were in limited supply, prices mostly 25 cents higher. Best new crop on hand 30.25. Ewes were steady.

Corn Futures Trim Losses

Chicago (AP) — Corn futures declined 1½ cents on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, but a rally near the close trimmed losses almost in half.

Wheat futures, which had posted a loss of up to about 1 cent a bushel, also rallied late in the session and closed with gains of up to 1 cent.

Trade was mixed and moved at a fairly good pace.

Corn futures opened on a weak tone, but attracted some buying interest and improved in price. Late in the session, however, when prices again were declining, commercial selling moved into the pit and prices eased 1½ cents. Near the close, with local shorts closing out positions, losses were cut.

At the close, wheat was ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel higher, July 1.28⅞; corn was ½ to ⅞ lower, July 1.27⅜; oats were ½ to ⅞ lower, July 61½ cents; rye was ½ to 2 cents lower, July 1.15½; and soybeans were ½ to 1¼ cents higher, July 2.65⅛.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
